KOHLSAAT SELLS.

The Chicago Inter Ocean New Controlled by William Penn Nixon.

William Penn Nixon.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

CHICAGO, May 3.—The rumors that have been floating about for some days of changes in the proprietorship of the Inter Ocean were today verified. H. Kohisaat, for three years past publisher of the paper, and proprietor of the majority of the stock, disposed of his entire interest to William Penn Nixon, who has been editor for more than eighteen years.

The gentlemen are warm friends, but on some points have not been agreed as to the management. Kohisaat was young and ambitious and desired to control all departments, but not wishing to create friction, he proposed to Nixon terms on which he would buy or sell, and the latter accepted his offer to sell and purchased Kohisaat's entire holdlings. Kohisaat was also repaid for all advances made to the company. It is understood he received $400,000. Nixon says: "There will be no change in the character of the paper. There is no political scheme under tha transfer, and the paper will continue the advocacy of Republicanism, but will be the organ of no man or set of men."

During his administration, Kohisaat spent money freely, largely increasing the business and circulation of the paper. He had added greatly to the newspaper plant and leaves it bettered by more than $100,000. He sails for Europe, with his family, next week. It is understood that it was through the aid of personal friends that Nixon was able to make the purchase, but the names are not known to the public.

TACOMA (Wash.,) May 3.-Three hundred of the 1000 Industrials en-camped at Puyallup marched up the track eastward this afternoon, congregating near Orting. Early this even-ing they seized a fast east-bound Northern Pacific freight-train, climbing the grade into the Cascade Mountains. The balance of the army at Puyallup has been ordered to march on double-quick time, under "Gen." Cant-well, up the track, where an effort will Marshal Drake has just been notified. He will leave at once with a force of deputies in pursuit. Probably the miliia will follow.

Later.-The train was not exactly stolen or exactly in the possession of the army at any time. The members of the army merely climbed on the train as they had on other trains during the day, but in this instance they climbed on in greater numbers, through the railroad officials claim they got off in every instance when told to do so by the conductor. But they kept climbing on until there were over one hundred aboard. The train was ordered side-tracked at Palmer, and the locomotive and caboose were taken back to South Prairie, thus stranding the Coxeyites who had enjoyed the short ride. Marshals were at once sent out to take charge of the company's property and prevent the Coxeyites from interfering with trains.

If only two or three dozen Coxeyites had boarded the train, they very likely would have gone through without causing any disturbance, or encountering interference. The plan now seems to be to have the army proceed to Spokane in small squads and make that point a rendezvous, and then proceed East via the Great Northern.

A LAND SPECULATOR'S SCHEME. TACOMA (Wash...) May 3.-L. C. Dillkane, is in the city, maturing a scheme whereby he proposes to make a big stroke toward developing Central Washington, and at the same time offer work to all the unemployed laborers in the State. The scheme is to dig three big irrigating ditches and pay the employees their board, clothing and other expenses, and the balance of their wages, in interest-thearing, bonds.

the employees their board, clothing and other expenses, and the balance of their wages in interest-bearing bonds, secured by kands along the ditches.

Dilman has two associates, J. M. Buckley of Spokane and H. H. Smith of this city. They have an option on 90,000 acres of Northern Pacific Railroad land, in Central Washington, and propose that the chambers of commerce of Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane stall pach appoint one person, the six making a board of directors, to manage the company's affairs. The company, if organized, is to contract for the purchase of these 90,000 acres, and at once sell enough on long installments, with a small cash payment, to lay in sufficient tools and provisions to set the men at work. Dillman says the land is to be bought by the company at very reasonable rates.

He thinks the enterprise is already assured. One ditch will extend from Priest Rapids toward Prosser Falls, on the west side of the Columbia River, and water 30,000 acres; the second extends from Walluia to Ainsworth, embracing 15,000 acres, and the third-leaves Snake River near Riparla, at the crossing of the Union Pacific Railroad, and traverses the Eureka-Flat, through 45,000 acres.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—"Gen."
Coxey was conspicuous by his absence from the camp of the Army of the Commonweal during the greater part of the day. He remained at his quarters at the National Hotel for the purpose mainly of attending to matters incident to the proposed removal of the army's camping-ground to a more army's camping-ground to a more healthy portion of the city. Whichever site is finally decided upon, the Coxeyites will retain their present location as a speaking-ground, where the leaders a speaking-ground, where the leaders can address their hearers every night.

GOV. JACKSON AND THE KELLYITES DES MOINES (Iowa,) May 3.-Kelly's army is in desperate straits, and star-vation stares the men in the face. The demonstration of laboring people as a last resort, was not a success.
Only 100 men marched to the Statehouse. Gen. Weaver led them. He told Gov. Jackson that his delegation wanted to know if there was any power in the executive to secure a train. He said that not a laboring man in Des Moines would countenance a violation of the law, but that all were Army.
Vice-President Unahorn of the Trades and Labor Assembly said organized ia-bor feared the disbandment of the army here, and asked that the men army here, and asked that the men be hurried from the State. The Governor said: "The trunk be hurried from the State.

The Governor said: "The trunk lines refuse to carry the men for less than full fare. I will lay this matter before the Executive Council. The only hope is to secure sufficient funds to carry these men to the Mississippi River. If Ke'lly will take boats I have hopes that we will be able to get them out of the State."

Gov. Jackson will try to secure funds to pay for transportation over the Des Moines and Kansas City and Keokuk and Eastern railroads to the river, thence by boat to Ohlo. The committee requested Kelly to consent to such a plan, and he will probably accept.

Kelly finally agreed to accept transportation to the Mississippi with a view or tation to the Mississippi with a view of going down that stream and up the Ohio. Henry Browne of the army, supposed to be insane, gashed his throat today. He will recover.

Sanders, started for Washington this afternoon at 3 o'clock. They marched to Victor, seven miles away, where they went into camp and where they have been joined by at least fifty more men. Three four-horse teams pulled their commissary and baggage wagons out of camp. Every man has a big roll of blankets.

ON TO JOIN KELLY. OMAHA, May 3.—A special to the Bee from Gretna, Neb., twenty miles west of Omaha, says that "Capt." W. A. Duff's Commonwealers from Lin-coln arrived at noon today on foot on their way to join Kelly's army at Des Moines. Their reception by the author-ities was very cool. They took dinner at the blacksmith shop of M. H. Teeter, a local sympathizer. "Capt." Duff or dered a two-hours' halt for rest and re freshment, after which they march tresment, after which they marched to Portal tonight and will reach Omaha tomorrow at noon. The men are quiet and orderly, but in their ranks is a man named Dever, who was caught "shoving the queer" a year or so ago. A PROFESSION.

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—Mrs. Mary

Lease of Kansas is in Kansas City. "I am visiting my dressmakers," she ex-plained. "It is unfortunate, but we must pay attentions to the

and fashions."
"What do you think of Coxey?"
"This spontaneous uprising of people from every part of the country is not the work of one man and it is not accidental. It was bad enough for accidental. It was bad enough for the American people to take their cornmeal and soup-bone from the hands of charity, but now charity fails to provide and something must be done."

"What would you have done, had you been in Coxey's place?"

"What would I have done?" The words came quick and were spoken almost through her teeth. "I would have gone up those steps and into the Capitol or I would never tried it. I would not have turned back, but I would not have tried to go into the Capitol building until I had a force behind me that could easily overcome all the police in Washington."

HARRODSBURG (Ky.,) May 3.—C. Peter Springer, a Mexican war vet-eran and a Coxey enthusiast, with a eran and a Coxey enthusiast, with a half dozen companions, left here this evening for Washington in a balloon to join the Commonwealers. Springer took charts. compasses and maps along with him to direct his course. hundred miners on the Mesaba reange broke open the magazine and seized fourten kegs of powder. Sheriff Sharvey and Adjt.-Gen. Muhlberg left for Virginia this morning. Co. A of the State militia followed on a special train at 10 o'clook.

The 1500 miners out are mostly Finlanders. The strike is for $1.50 per day. They have been receiving $1 and $1.25. The strike began at the Franklin fiftige, 300 of them going out. They drove the men out with revolvers at the Normon, Iron King and Manntain Iron works. Telegrams were received from Virginia today asking aid at once as 700 miners were threatening to loot the stores. At one mine the magazine was broken open and forty kegs of powder and some dynamite were stolen. All are penniless and depend for sustenance on charity and on what they can seize.

Three hundred miners at the Mountain Iron mine last night voted to go to work today, but want protection against the mob. There were sixty men in the military company that went up with Sheriff Sharvey and Adjt. Gen. Muhlberg of St. Paul.

The troops arrived today. Sheriff Sharpy endeavored to get the trouble at the Franklin mine settled by arbitration tonight, but the effort was unsuccessful. An attempt will be made to resume work at this mine in the morning, and trouble is expected. At 9 o'clook tonight Sheriff Sharpy received a telegram at Virginia, asking eived a telegram at Virginia, asking him to go at once to Mountain Iron, as shooting was in progress there.

Up to midnight nothing has been received from the reporter who went upon the range relative to the shooting at Mountain Iron. It is probable the first reports were exaggerated. RUMORS OF A CONFERENCE. COLUMBUS (O.,) May 3.—President or Harris Objects to the Clerk Reading the Pennsylvanian's Speech-River and Harbor Appropriations-Caucus Action.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service WASHINGTON, May 3.-By a vote of 37 to 1, six of the forty-four Demo-crats being absent, the Democratic Senators in caucus today adopted a resolution to support the tariff bill of the Finance Committee, including the compromise amendments, that have been agreed upon by the many conferences of the Democratic Senators dur-ing the past two weeks. The resolutions were presented by Senator Gor-man of Maryland, the chairman of the caucus, and were discussed at some length, as the session lasted from a few minutes after 6 o'clock until nearly 7 o'clock. The absentees were Messrs. Mills, Murphy, Irby, Butler, Gibson and Lindsay. It was claimed they were all accounted for and assurances were n that they would support the iff bill. The only persons in whose sence there might have been any significance are Senators Murphy and llis, the the understanding being all were in accord with any bill supported by the majority of the Demcratic Senators. Senator Mills was not at the Senate during the day and the call for the caucus was sent to his house. It is believed he has some objections to the concessions that have been made, but he had previously announced he would support any bill that provided for reductions in the present law. Senfor reductions in the present law. Senator Murphy's caucus notice was also sent to his residence, as he was absent from the Capitol. His position has all along been one of doubt, but several Democratic Senators assert he will support the bill, and he is counted in the forty-three which are claimed as certain to vote in favor of the bill. The other absentees are either out of the city or failed to secure notices in time. None of them have been counted as against the bill and it was said they would indorse the action of the caucus. In presenting the resolution and stating the object of the caucus Senator Gorman made a conciliatory speech. He said it was necessary to make consessions in order to secure the united

Gorman made a conciliatory sp He said it was necessary to make cessions in order to secure the united support of the party, and he further asserted that it would need a Demo-cratic majority to pass the bill. He stated that propositions had been made on all sides and it was believed the measure with the proposed amend-ments would now meet the support which was absolutely necessary a Democratic tariff bill. Senator Jones of Arkansas, the mem-

Senator Jones of Arkansas, the member of the Finance Committee, who has taken a most active part in the preparation of the amendments known as the Compromise Bill, made a speech in which he explained at length the proposed amendments, and told why they they were necessary. He did not discuss or read all of them, but selected the most important and those affecting the greatest interests.

Senator McPherson spoke in support of the resolution and dwelt at some length on the concessions which Northern and Eastern Democrats had been obliged to make and what they had to give up in order to meet the demands of the South and West. He claimed that the concessions that were talked of by the other Senators were not wholly on one side. Senators Palmer and Vilas made long and vigorous speeches urging party harmony and the necessity of early action.

Great interest centered in the meach necessity of early action.

Great interest centered in the speech of Senator Smith of New Jersey and his remarks were received with a great deal of satisfaction for, while he said he was not satisfact with the bill and he was not satisfied with the bill and was unalterably opposed to the income ax, he was ready to support the measure with the amendments which had been agreed upon, though he claimed that what were called concessions by the Southern and Western men were but small compared with the concessions which Eastern Senators made in supporting the bill with the income tax provision.

Senator Hill was not placated. He spoke briefly but long enough to convince the caucus that his vote would not be for the bill if the income tax remained in it. He said his position was well-known; he had made his statement before the country and there was nothing to add to what he had said.

needs of the country nor the party demanded. Without saying so in direct terms, there were none who listened to him was believed he would support the bill.

The stee showed what those who had called the caucus expected. The conferences that have been going on among the Democratic Senators for two weeks have given the leaders the information as to how the different Senators stood, but they wanted official caucus action upon what had been agreed on in the conference-room. The row was called in order to place all on record, and thirty-seven Senators voted in favor of the resolution and one Senator (Mr. Hill) against it. The vote was received with genuine gratification, as many of the Senators believed it eignified that the tariff bill would pass.

The Senators present were Messrs. Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Bankhead, Brice, Caffery, Call, Camden, Cockrell, Coke, Daniel, Faulkner, George, Gordon, Gorman, Gray, Harris, Hill, Hunton, Jarvis, Jones, McLaurin, Merbarson, Martin, Mitchell of Wisconsin, Morgan, Palmer, Pascoe, Pugh, Ransom, Roach, Smith, Turole, Vest, Vilas, Voorhees, Walsh and White.

Senator Jones said that the sugar schedule had been changed so as to provide for an ad valorem duty of of cellpath of a cent on refined sugar imported from countries paying a bounty on sugar, under the present law, with the bounty to stand until the list of January next. He said that the advalorem tax was not materially different from the sugar provision in the pending bill. He also stated that a large number of other amendments had been made, but did not mention them in detail, except to say in no case had duties been fixed as high as in the McKinley law. He said that many concessions had been made to the Dattern and Northern Democrats by changes from ad valorem to specific duties, and that it was hoped that when the new bill should be presented it should command the solid Democratic vote in the Senate.

On motion of Senator Morgan, in conformity with the special order, the Senate went into executive session to consider the Chinese treaty. The doors were reopened at 12 o'clock, and the tariff bill was taken up. Senator Allison suggested that the pending amendment being to change the date when the bill will go into effect from June 10 to June 30, be passed over.
Senator Harris agreed in order to make progress. Senator Quay yielded the floor to Senator Chandler.
Mr. Chandler gave his idea of what the tariff bill should have been had Democrats been truef to the Chicago platform and characterized the bill in its present form as a long way removed from that declaration of principles. In considering it, Senator Chandler read with sarcastic comment the letter of President Cleveland addressed to President Cleveland addressed to President Chauncey D. Black, of the League of Democratic Clubs, inclosing a contribution. Mr. Cleveland, he said, was willing to pay for the dissemination of his noble sentiments, and he hoped that the Democrats of the State, taking counsel of their eminent leader, would finally put aside their scramble for protection to local, or perhaps personal interests and make their bill conform to the Democratic platform.

When Senator Chandler took his seat Senator Quay resumed the speech, which he has been delivering in serial form for the last two weeks. At 3:30 o'clock he asked the clerk to read a portion of his speech. Senator Harris, who had been alertly watching, raised a point of order against the clerk reading a Senator's speech. Senator Quay said he was somewhat fatigued and thought a short respite would relieve him. He had no desire to violate the rules.

said he was somewhat fatigued and thought a short respite would relieve him. He had no desire to violate the rules.

Senator Harris replied rather sharply that he was glad to afford Mr. Quay any relief in his power, but when the Senator from Pennsylvania insisted upon working a speech by the day and by the week he (Harris) would have to insist that he make it himself.

"Oh, very well," retorted Senator Quay good-humoredly, "I will proceed." But there are more ways than one of obtaining a breathing spell in the Senate. Mr. Mitchell of Oregon blandly suggested the absence of a quorum and the bells rang. The Senators came into the chamber from the cloakrooms and the rell was called. Forty-six Senators responded. The Senators were getting ready to return to the place whence they had come when Senator Quay moved to go into executive session. Most of them haited at the doors and answered to their names and Senator Pugh of Alabama stretched himself out on one of the sofas against the wall. When the roll was called he answered without arising from his comfortable position there.

"That wont do," said Senator Hunter of Virginia in a voice loud enough to be heard in the press gallery opposite. "Every Senator who answers to his name in a recumbent position is subject to a fine of a basket of champagne." The Senators smiled and nodded aproval. Senator guay's motion was lost by 32 to 12.

SILVER'S PROSPECTS.

The London Conference Revives Interest.

President Cleveland's Contention Apparently Sustained.

Senators Formerly Anti-silver are Favorably Disposed.

WASHINGTON, May 3.-The agita tion in Europe and notably in England in favor of the rehabilitation of silver as a money metal is being ob-served with great satisfaction by the served with great satisfaction by the administration, for it is regarded as a strong confirmation of the correct less of the principle to which Presiden Cleveland has so strenuously adhered throughout thick and thin, and some times at the risk of his own popularity with his party. The President has contended that a true and stable equality of g d and silver could be brought about md maintained only by agreemen between the great financial nation of the world. With this conviction he has been obliged to resolutely o pose individual action by the United States. contended

When the extreme silver men have

States.

When the extreme silver men have declared that there could be no hope of the consummation of the desired international agreement, the President has replied that a firm and steadfast adhesion to the line of policy intimated by the repeal of the silver purchasing sections of the Sherman act must inevitably bring about the desired result. One of the purposes in view then was to relieve the United States from the loss and danger to which it was subjected by the efforts to maintain, unaided by any of the great financial powers, the integrity as a money metal of a vast silver circulation.

Europe has prospered under the old conditions, and was well satisfied to allow the United States to bear the burden. The President's theory was that by suspending further efforts in that direction, the United States would cause the European nations to feel the need of a larger circulating medium and to share at least with us the hardships of monetary stringency. Therefore, the movements now in progress in England, Germany' and France are regarded by the administration people as evidence of the successful work of the President's policy.

Great importance is not attached to the attempt initiated by Mexico to secure another conference, though it is not true that the President has refused to join in the movement, for as a matter of fact the Mexican government has not made any tangible proposition and has confined its efforts to sounding other governments to learn how a formal invitation would be received, and not knowing the pecessary promise held out by European countries, our government is not yet become so severe as tenwarant-the belief on our part that such nations. '3s Great Britain and national Monetary Conference can be reached in the near future. The pressure has not yet become so severe as its warranache belief on our part that such nations as Great Britain and Germany are ready to abandon their long-cherished convictions and take up the double standard.

Probably some kind of an agreement might be reached now, but according to the views taken in financial quarters here it would probably not realize our desire to put silver on a perfect equality with gold, and it is thought would postpone indefinitely that restoration. Therefore it is probable that our government will pursue a conservative course, declining to take the initiative again in view of the fruitiess converence already held and bide its time until the united powers and Great Britain are prepared to invite the United States to join in a conference which shall have before it some distinct proposition looking to the rehabilitation of silver and with sufficient power placed in the members to insure a practical outcome.

Senator Sherman, in speaking of the senator Sherman, in speaking of the London Bimetallic Convention and the telegram sent by himself and others adressed to the Lord Mayor of London, expressing sympathy with the move-ment, expressed the hope that the con-vention would lead to the calling of another international monetary confer-ence, and said: "There is no division another international monetary conterence, and said: "There is no division of sentiment among conservative people as to the necessity of retaining silver as one of the moneys of the country. The only question we have discussed in Congress is whether we can have free coinage without demoralizing gold. The general opinion is this would be the result of an attempt by the United States alone to maintain sixteen ounces of silver with one ounce of gold, where in the open markeit we can buy thirty-one ounces of silver with an ounce mitted. While I have always opposed free coinage of silver, I have, nevertheless, desired that silver should be used to the utmost extent possible as a money metal, providing only that it would not retained. tent possible as a money metal, provid-ing only that it would not place us on a single standard and drive gold from the country, gold being the recognized standard in monetary transactions with all the commercial nations.

"I therefore joined heartily in ex-

all the commercial nations.

"I therefore joined heartily in expressing the hope that the bimetallic congress in London would recommend some plan by which all the commercial nations would arrange a mode of coining both metals as money. My own opinion is that it is better to recognize at once as a fact that is apparent, that on account of the vast increase in the production of silver the ratio should be based upon the present relative market value of silver and gold."

"Senator Teller said: "As to the effect of the telegram sent to the meeting by Senators Sherman and other Senators who have not been known silver men. I think the telegram will encourage bimetallism by showing that even those who oppose the free coinage of silver have come to recognize the necessity of a double standard and that it will be seen from this that while differences of opinion may exist among Americans as to how we shall secure the full use of silver as standard money, none exists as to the necessity of the use of both gold and silver on terms of the mint equatity."

THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

An Interesting Pamphlet On Lord Liverpool's LONDON, May 3.— (By Atlantic Cable.) At the morning session of the International Bimetallic conference at the Mansion House, Sir William H. Houldsworth read a paper on "The Effects Upon Agriculturists, Manufacturers, Wage-earners, Mer-chants, Bankers and Investors of the Fall in the General Level of Prices."

M. Therey, a French delegate, warmly urged the establishment of an international bimetallic league. The proposal was cordially supported.

A pamphlet upon the silver question, just published by Sir Joseph McKenna, ex-director of the National Bank of Ireland, is creating a sensation in financial circles and the bimetallic conference. It is devoted to proving that Lord Liverpool's legislation of 1816 was simply fraud, the object being to cheat the public out of 4s in each pound, troy weight, of new coin. It is added that Lord Liverpool made the paltry gain not for himself but for the treasury. Sir Joseph McKenna acquits Lord Liverpool of intentional dishonesty and attributes the fraud to the stupidity of the silverites. It is claimed that when this is understood it will strongly influence public opinion in favor of the re-establishment of bimetallism.

GREETING AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The following cabidram has been sent to the Lord Mayor of London, apropos of the bimetallic conference: "We desire to express our candid sympathy with the movement to promote the restoration of silver by international agreement, in the aid of which we understand the meeting is held under Your Lordship's presidency. We believe free coinage, both of gold and silver, by international agreement, with a fixed ratio, would secure to mankind the blessing of a sufficient volume of metallic money, and, what is hardly less important, secure to the world of trade immunity from violent exchange fluctuations."

The document is signed by the following Senators, who voted for the repeal of the Sherman law: John Sherman, W. B. Allison, D. W. Voorhees, George F. Hoar, Nelson W. Aldrich, David B. SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.-At 2:15 o'clock this afternoon Chairman Meyers called the Republican State Central Committee to order at Pioneer Hall. "In response to a summons you have gathered here today to formulate a call for the next State convention," he said.
"We have many regrets and many things to be thankful for. We regret defeat at the last election. We are thankful for the mistakes our Demo-cratic friends have made. The signs of the times point to Republican suc-cess at the coming election and it is to these cherful omens that the hope-ful feelings that now enthuse Republicans are due."

Secretary Steppacher then read the call for the meeting and called the roll. The committee then settled to business by taking up the call drafted by the Executive Committee for con-sideration.

Carl Lindsey of Santa Cruz presented the claims of his own town in a short speech. He called attention to the hotel accommodations and promised the hospitality of the town if the convention was held there.

Mayor Pardee of Oakland, holding a proxy from Alpine county, stated that Alpine county wished the convention to go to Oakland. He then made a strong piea to the committee to send the convention to Oakland.

The first ballot resulted: Sacramento, 47; Santa Cruz, 45; Oakland, 24; total, 116. Necessary for a cholee, 59. A second ballot was ordered, and this resulted: Sacramento, 61; Santa Cruz, 50. Sacramento was therefore chosen.

Before the second vote was called there was some lively work done among the committeemen. Oakland saw it could not win, and threw its strength to Sacramento, with the result that the prize went to the latter. On motion of Lindsay of Santa Cruz, the selection was made unanimous. Then it was voted to hold the convention June 19, and the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, that the convention shall be composed of 847 delegates; that the basis of representation shall be one delegate for each county, one delegate for each 160 votes cast for Thomas R. Bard, Republican candidate for Presidential elector at the general election held in 1822, and one delegate for each fraction of 100 votes or over."

Resolutions were also adopted requiring the primary elections to be held in each county for delegates to the State and district conventions. In all precincts where the Republican candidate for the appointment of delegates, the County Committee is empowered to appoint such delegates to the State and district conventions. In all precincts where the Republican voters fail to vote for the appointment of delegates, the County Committee is empowered to appoint such delegates to the Bard, primary elections must be held and delegates be voted for by Asambly districts. The test for voters is:

"I will pledge myself to vote for the Republican party at the coming election." It was decided that t

There were fourteen passengers in the stage. The scene was half a mile from Black Bart's last hold-up.

CHINESE REGISTRATION. A Total of About Forty-eight Thousand at 'Frisco-A Decision.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—The period within which Chinese residents of the United States are required by law to register in order to avoid deportation expires at 12 o'clock tonight, and all Chinese coolea hereafter who are without proper certificates of residence will be liable to arrest. The great mass of Chinese in the San Francisco district have compiled with the law.

The total number of, registrations will be about forty-eight thousand, which is within three thousand of the total Chinese population of the district. A large part of these 3000 comes under the head of "exempts," being merchants, or other than laborers, and will suffer no penalty, so that very few Chinese are left who have not compiled with the law. Collector Welburn has not mapped out his plan of campalgn against these few, but will await instructions from Washington. A further appropriation will be necessary to cover deportation expenses.

Judge Morrow, of the United States Court, in a decision today, defined what constitutes, a Chinese merchant. Quaua Gin, a Chinese who claimed to be a merchant, had been detained on the steamer Belgic at this port on her return from China. Commissioner Heacock decided in favor of Quaua Gin, and the case was appealed.

Judge Morrow holds that a Chinese claiming to be a merchant, and making application for entrance into the United States, on the ground that he was formerly engaged in this country as a merchant, is required by the act of November 3, 1898, to establish by the testimony of two credible witnesses, other than Chinese, that the applicant was engaged in buying and selling merchandise at a fixed place of business; that it was conducted in his Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES.
SAN DIEGO, May 2.—The work of SAN DIEGO, May 2.—The work of registration of the Chinese was completed this evening. Up to the time of closing the books today 574 had registered, leaving but six or seven Chinese in the county who have not availed themselves of the opportunity. In San Bernardino county 683 Chinese registered, and 397 were recorded in Riverside county, making a total of 1754 in the three counties.

The law requiring registration also applies to Chinese women, and of the fourteen in this county only eight registered. These, with the six or seven men, will probably soon be deported.

'FRISCO ESCAPES ITS DEBTS. Judgment in Favor of the City Against a

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—Judge D. . Murphy rendered a decision today that will spread consternation in the ranks of the city's numerous creditors. He decided in favor of the city as defendant in a suit brought by D. S. Weaver for labor performed and material supplied for the city's engine houses during the month of December, 1892. The claim was contested on the 1892. The claim was contested on the ground that when the present Board of Supervisors came into office they found themselves in debt at the outset. The law prohibits the payment of debts contracted in one fiscal year out of the income of another, and as there were no funds with which to pay Weaver's and other claims, amounting in all to something like $300,000, it was shown that the Supreme Court had already rendered a decision upon the subject in a case that had been tried in Santa Barbara.

This decision practically decided the case, as Judge Murphy in giving judgment for the city stated that while he saw that Weaver's claim was just and would have preferred to decide in his favor, yet the Santa Barbara decision was conclusive and the law on the

This ruling will, no doubt, govern all the suits now pending against the city. The Spring Valley Water Company will lose $34,177, while the next largest creditors are the Pacific Telephone and Pacific Gas Improvement companies with claims for $5000 and $7757, respectively.

with claims for $5000 and $7757, respectively.

The city's credit has been anything but good lately, and several orders from the Board of Supervisors have been refused by contractors and wholesale houses, but now that this all-important decision has been rendered, the supplies are likely to be still further cut short.

Pacific investigation today Fred K. Abbot announced that he was unable to procure books asked for on Wednesday, orders having been issued to Attorney Morris to look them up. Attorney Pettit states that assurances were given that Edwin H. Abbot of Boston would appear before the court of inquiry either in New York or Milwaukee with the books.

Witness Abbot further testified that he was unable to find the checkbook which he alluded to on Tuesday. The witness had kept accounts for the Western States Construction Company, but he was unable to recall anything about them. So far as he knew the company constructed nothing. Mr. Abbot did not remember having seen a pool or syndicate agreement proposing to furnish bonds for the construction of the Chicago terminals. It was finally decided that Mr. Abbot should be examined in New York.

Edward G. Mason, formerly secretary and attorney for the Chicago South Branch Dock Company, testified that property of this company was sold in 1887 for $552,500 cash at the American Exchange National Bank.

The attorney did not know to whom the sale was made. Attorney Pettit submitted a letter from D. S. Wegg to H. S. Boutelle, dated March 3, 1890. The letter was written in the office of Barlow & Wetmore, solicitors, in New York. A request was made to have the Chicago and Northern Pacific Railroad organized immediately with dummy stockholders. Advice was given that in the near future papers would be forwarded which would show the sale of the property. Attorney James L. High was frequently mentioned in this letter, which was signed D. S. Wegg. A later communication announced that the property might be turned over to Henry Villard, Charles L. Colby and Thomas F. Oakes as trustees.

NEW YORK, May 3. — The new cruiser Marblehead has completed her final trip and her officers and crew are quiety enthusiastic over her performances. This is known as the deep-sea trial in which all her qualities as a fighting ship and her sea-going powers are tested to the full. She sailed cut of the bay on Tuesday morning and reported in nort today morning and of the bay on Tuesday morning and reported in port today, passing quarantine before noon. Outside of her own crew probably the most interested of all aboard were the members of the government board of inspection, consisting of Commodore Thomas C. Sell-bridge, Capt. Philip H. Cooper, Commander Bradford, Naval Constructor Baxter. Chief. Engineer Milligan and mander Bradford, Naval Constructor Baxter, Chief Engineer Milligan and Lieutenant-Commander S. H. Roeder. Their report will not be ready for some

Ensign Schofield in conversation with an Associated Press reporter gave the following account of the trial: "The trial under natural draft commenced on Tuesday afternoon. The suspension of Rev. T. H. Maione, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, by Bishop Matise. A petition to Mgr. Satolli to reinstate Father Maione is in circulation, and friends of the deposed priest claim it will be signed by nearly all the Catholics in the diocese.

Should the friendly suit brought against Father Maione to disprove the bishop's charge of a shortage in his accounts be dismissed on the bishop's claim that it was not authorized by the trustees, who figure as plaintiffs, another suit will be instituted by a committee appointed by the parish for that purpose. trial under natural draft commenced on Tuesday afternoon. The course was southwest from Sandy Hook light for a two hours' run. Estimated by the patent log, we made 34.6 knots in the two hours, or at the rate of 17.3 knots an hour. Some of the government board thought the patent log had over-registered, but the closest investigation showed the register to be correct. At the conclusion of the speed that, she was tried to determine her tactical qualities, and to see how quickly she could turn under varying conditions. The vessel is 270 feet long. Her shortest turn was made in 175 yards, with one engine going ahead and the other backing, while the long-set was at 350 yards, with both engines going ahead at full speed. It took her about five minutes to stop when going ahead at full speed, and when going astern it took her between one and a quarter and one and a haif minutes to stop. There was no unusual heeling of the vessel when the heim was put up hard over.

"Wednesday the guns were tested. Two shots were fired from each of the eight five-inch, rapid-firing guns, two from each of the six-pounders and five shots from each of the six-pounders. All the trials passed off smoothly, and, so far as known, successfully."

The Marblehead's officers are: Commander, Charies O'Neill: executive officer, Lieut, C. G. Bowman; navigator, Lieut, M. E. Hull: watch officers, Lieuts. There is a new tacteriological discovery which must interest rheumatic humanity. M. May Schuler (Cosmos, Paris, February 10) is said to have discovered, in the joints of persons attacked with chronic articular rheumatism, bacteria, which are always identical in like cases. These bacilli are short and thick, having at each end bright grains which aniline colors make still more evident. The discoverer has been able to cultivate these bacteria in bouillon or gelatin, or on a piece of potato. Their culture requises a temperature of at least 25 deg., and darkness is indispensable. INTERIOR JOURNALISM.

A dispatch from San Francisco announces that a "large number of the Republican editors of the State" gathered there in response to a call for the purpose of organizing a league of the Republican newspapers of the State "to the end that united and harmonious and, consequently, effective work may be done during the coming campaign." About forty "representa tive newspaper men, practically all from interior towns," were, we are told, present. The editor of the Alameda Argus was chosen chairman, and the classic steerer of the Lake County Avalanche secretary. An Argus-eyed chair-man, backed up by an Avalanche of a secretary, certainly ought to accom-plish something. What the interior purpose of these interior journalists may be must re-main a secret for the present, for the reason that before any business was transacted the molders of interior opinion decided that the proceedings held should be private, and went into execture the suggestion that in case this ould be intended for something after nature of a journalistic "piece the nature of club," the result is likely to be discouraging, both from an interior and an exterior standpoint. The days of 'the hard-and-fast party "orgin," which would support a yellow dog if the animal had a place on the party ticket, are numbered. The "intelligent and discriminating reader" has grown very

MUNICIPAL REFORM.

There is a growing opinion among the public that the work of grand juseldom results in any particular good to the community. Still, as long we have grand juries, they should do their work in as thorough a manner as possible. The grand jury which been in session for the past two months appears to have devoted a more amount of labor and care to its work, having already examined 235 witnesses. A partial report of this body was printed in The Times of The most important result of their investigations is that which is given in one of the opening sentences of the report, in which they

"Sufficient care is not taken in regard to either the capacity or the character of the deputies and subordinates in the public service. Merit should be the sole reason for appointment to subordinate public office, and efficient and honest service should be a guarantee against partisan removal."

The may be said that there is nothing

It may be said that there is nothing this statement. That is very true. It is not a new discovery, but a self-evident fact which has been patent to all who have devoted the slightest attention to county and municipal affairs. What is the reason for this state of affairs? Why do our officials not exercise the same care in choosing their assistants as is shown by those employ help in the business world? Surely it is to their interest to stre through the intimidation of the no so. They are naturally anxious to law-making powers. That the present world? Surely it is to their interest to Dave the affairs of their offices conducted in as efficient a manner as poslong series of blunders, we all admit, sible, in order that no discredit may attach to them. Why is it, then, th e that so many subordinates in the public offices are incompetent, or careseek far for an answer to this question. It brings us back to the root of the whole evil in local politics—the struggle for office on political and party grounds, rather than on the ground of fitness for the office. When man seeks a public office for which he knows himself to be unfit, he sets about to pull every available wire in order to attain his ambition. He has spent some money, of course, but, as a rule, those who are after these positions are not burdened with ready cash. Consequently they have to rely on other means to help them forward. most common of these is to promise subordinate positions to those who will assist them in "getting there"—that is to say, those who will attend "fixing" the primaries, selecting legates to the convention, and so to "fixing" forth. As the struggle increases in bit-terness toward the end of the campaign, the excitement also increases and promises are often made rather recklessly by the candidate. He not only promises fat jobs to more peo-ple than he ought, but he promises them to people whom he would never think of employing in any responsible capacity if he were a business man when the election is over, and the newly-made public servant has been aducted in that "orifice," he finds that a day of reckoning has arrived. and begins to wonder what he is going to do to redeem half the promises has recklessly made. te appointments in his office would not begin to go around among the ot begin to go around among the rowd of hungry applicants. What is the consequence: The consequence is set that state of affairs that is conted out by the grand jury in its eport. Instead of a few competent amployees in the public offices—men who understand their business and atnd to it—we find, as a rule, the of-es crowded with a number of men who make a show of doing work which could be better performed by one-third the number of really competent men. At the same time these men petent is, not to point out where the fault men lies, but to remedy the evil and as speedily as possible do away with its producing cause. To accomplish this the ballot is our surest weapon, and the sovereign citizen should not forget that this is his only safe agent

THE COUNTY ROAD CONVENTION.

We commented a few days ago upon the proposition which is now before the people to build a boulevard to Pasa dena, stating that in our opinion it was doubtful whether the taxpayers of the county would be willing to approve of the expenditure of county money for so one-sided an improve-ment as the construction of a boulevard between Los Angeles and its enterpris ing suburb, as in this case the main, if not the entire benefit of the improve ment would evidently be reaped by the people of these cities and a few others on the "Midway Plaisance," so to speak, and these would embrace chiefly hose in better circumstances, who car afford to own vehicles. Another fact to be taken into consideration is that there are already two lines of railroad between the cities, while an electric road is about to be constructed, thus rendering the proposed boulevard no an absolute necessity. Still another obstacle pointed out by us, in the critiism referred to, was the fact tha geles or Pasadena have power to ap be made beyond their respective limits

While it is true that objections would be brought to bear against the ex penditure of county money for the con-struction of a single highway between cities which are already completely connected by rail, we believe it quite prob able that a more general and compre hensive plan for the construction of good roads in the county would mee the approval of our voters at the pres ent time, even though the expens the case of the boulevard to Pasadena above referred to. On the other hand, the advantages derived, not merely by owners of fast teams, but by the farm ing community, would be correspond ently greater.

It is some such plan as this that Th Times has been urging upon the munici-pal and county authorities ever since the cry of hard times and dissatisfac It is such a plan that is now engaging

At a recent meeting of the board of directors it was decided to call a county convention of delegates from the incorporated cities and road districts of Los Angeles county to consider the question of the issuing of bonds for the onstruction of permanent main highways. This convention will meet May 12 and will contain 300 delegates, of have twenty-five, and the remainder go to the other incorporated cities and road districts. Notices have been sen out to active citizens in the various districts, and meetings will be held for the appointment of delegates. In a circular which has just been the committee appointed by the chamber to deal with this matter calls atfive years a persistent agitation ro better roads has been in progress al many of the Eastern States in the passage of wiser road laws and the adoption of improved methods of construction. In those States where the carried out, marvelous results have fol lowed in the increased value of property and in the improved condition of the farming population. The plan of issuing bonds for road construction has been tried with marked success in many Eastern States, and several counties o

California have already taken steps in this direction under the new State law The committee goes on to show that about $90,000 annually on its roads, and their condition is far from satisfac tory during a great part of the year This sum, as President Freeman pointed out in his annual address to the chamber, would pay interest on a $750,000 issue of bonds, establish the required sinking fund, and still leave a margin for the improvemnt and maintenance of new and existing highways. It car be shown that the plan is economical, even at short range, taking no acproperty and the satisfaction and comfort to be had in the existence of the improved roads. In addition to all these arguments there remains the fact that there are at present a number of unemployed men in the county, whose labor can be obtained at a reasonable price, while at the same time the wages which they were receiving would be a great relief to hundreds of families that are now destitute. chamber, calls for the construction of about 150 miles of main macadamized highways leading out from the city by the most traveled routes, to be built under the supervision of a competent road engineer and by contract. Fo stance, as at present suggested, there would be roads from Los Angeles to Santa Monica, to Redondo, to San Pedro, to Whittier, to San Gabriel, to Pasadena and to Burbank. These, however, are merely suggestions made by the committee. It is proposed that such details shall be fully discussed by the convention when it assembles. An esti-mate has been prepared showing the exact cost to the taxpayers on $750,000 bonds, payable in forty years at 5 per cent. interest, 12½ per cent. of said bonds to be redeemed every five years. The figures are based on an assessment shows in the first column the amoun to be raised by special taxes to pay the interest and sinking fund every five years and in the second column the tax rate which would have to be raised annually for five years: $281,250.00..... $257,812.50 .....

convention will be generously attended and that the subject will be thoroughly and intelligently discussed in all its bearings, as it is a most important one, not only to the farmers, but to every-body who is interested in the welfare body who is interested in the and progress of the county.

The Mexicans have had another tus dred men, and it is again announced Under proper management the Yaquis would have made good citizens of our neighboring republic, and it would have been much cheaper work than a war of extermination, which the Mexicans will find about as difficult a job as the capture of Kid, the Apache in this country.

The Republican State Central Com nittee yesterday chose Sacramento as the place where the next State convention will be held, and decided on June 19 as the date for assembling the delegation there. Three cities competed for the convention, Sacramento, Oakland and Santa Cruz, but only two ballots were necessary for the first-named lo cality to win.

The counsel for the Central Pacific has submitted a statement to the House Committee on Pacific Railroads, showing that the debt of the company to the government is "in round num-bers from $62,500,000 to $65,000,000." Big figures, these. Even the difference be-tween the two amounts would make some of us very comfortable.

"ONTO" WASHINGTON.

(Madison Journal:) If Kelly's army may "capture" trains at pleasure and forage on communities as occasion makes convenient, all that the high-waymen lack to dignify their profession is organization and a flag.

(St. Paul Pioneer-Press.) If the American idea of liberty and self-government and the orderly correction of abuses by the people is to be preserved it is quite time that the people who know no other basis for liberty than public order were beginning to assert themselves.

(Sloux City Journal:) Unless we admit that our form of government is a failure, the precedent which "Gen." Kelly and the various "armies" are striving to establish is unjustifiable. of course, if we admit that, then they really are engaged in revolution, whether they appreciate the fact or not.

(Hartford Courant:) The stories about these gangs of tramps all over the country, calling themselves Coxey's men, are too plenty and too suggestive. These fellows seem to think they can take cars or horses at will, do anything but work and be law unto themselves and everybody else, too. Orderly people will tire of being goodnatured pretty soon.

(Minneapolis Tribune:) Kelly's crew

(Minneapolis Tribune:) Kelly's crev has an opportunity to get work on the Iowa farms. They had better accept Iowa farms. They had better accept the offer, as honest men would, and pay their way, as honest men do. The United States government is not going to make laws to suit the dictates of organized professional dead-beats. The laws of the United States are not to be made subject to the demands of the lawless.

(New York Recorder:) The tramps and loafers of the country have no more rights than its industrious and self-supporting citizens. All reports agree that the recruits of this so-called army of peace are drawn, not from the honest ranks of labor temporarily out of work, but from the standing army of professional idlers and dead-beats, who make it a business to be (Indianapolis Journal:) There (Indianapolis Journal:) There is practically no difference between the mendicant, or tramp, who begs from house to house and the Coxey leader who demands money and the best fool and shelter for able-bodied men who are on a fool's errand to Washington. basketfuls. (Springfield Republican:) What is needed is a general application of the remedy adopted by the authorities of one Western town, who armed the police with rawhides and sent them against a Commonweal Army encamped near by. The army fiel right merrily on foot down the tracks of a railroad, whose trains it was about to seize, with the lashes falling thick and fast on the backs of the host.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch:) In refusing to allow "Gen." Kelly and his army to pass through Chicago the authorities of that city are doing more to discourage the Western crank contingent than anything that has occurred since that army started. The wisdom of closing the city gates to the Kellyites will hardly be seriously questioned, in view of the high-handed manner in which they conducted themselves in the far West.

(Philadelphia Telegraph.) There is the far West.

(Philadelphia Telegraph:) There is no doubt about where Coxey's and the Industrial armies will go after they reach Washington. They will go upon the road after the usual fashion of the summer tramp. They are being fed and taken care of en route, but having reached the capital with no business to call them there they will disintegrate and become the same old tramps. As for being discontented, all lazy, vicious folks are that. So are the cranks.

cranks.

(Indianapolis Sentinel.) It is impossible to predict the outcome of the movement, but it is almost certain to result in more or less bloodshed. The danger point will probably be reached when the Western contingents come into the Pennsylvania coal-fields, although danger may be averted at that point and transferred to Washington. It is not at all beyond the bounds of reasonable prediction that the next two weeks may make a good deal of United States history.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL. Severe Exceriation of Senator Davis of

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

A Severe Excoriation of Senator Davis of Minnesota.

Joseph, Medill, in the Chicago Tribune, editorially "does up" Senator Davis of Minnesota, who recently delivered a speech in the Senate against the Nicaragua Canal. We quote the Tribune's editorial:

"Senator Davis of Minnesota, in stating that he does not favor the Nicaragua Canal, recently said:

"Why should the United States put 100,000,000 into the canal, when it has no naval force to hold it ten days against England, Germany, France, or Italy? There is another feature that ought not to be lost sight of, and that is the fact that vessels are obliged to go around the cape, which is a wonderful defense for the United States. It is no small thing to send naval vessels around Cape Horn. If we cut a canal through to the Pacific it would be open in times of peace, and many vessels could be put through there in case trouble was contemplated in the near future. With $10,600,000 and an immense iron mine on the Pacific Coast we could make a show of defense in a short time against all the vessels that any nation could send around the Horn; but the worst feature is that we could not hold the canal, nor could we recover it if once lost.

"The above criticism, made by Senator Davis is very flippant and is easily answered. In the first place, there may not be a war with any European power for hundreds of years to come. The chances are that there never will be one. The country is growing stronger and more resourceful every year. In less than a quarter of a century it will number a hundred millions, or more than any two of the European powers named by the Senator, and will contain three times the resources of any one of them, crushed as they are under huge debts and the burdens upon industry of standing armies. The greatest danger of war, in that direction are extremely small. That nation is under bonds to keep the peace with this country to the extent that it values the possession of Ganada and the money its subjects have invested in American securi

Canada and the money its subjects have invested in American securities and property.

"Senator Fawis's cowardly line of argument assumes that this country will never be supplied with a sufficient navy to defend the canal against even weak, bankrup: Italy, which is an absurd supposition. If ever we should have war with any European power we shull defend all our ports by guns throwing shells filled with dynamite and no foreign ironclads will dare venture within their reach. In the cyent of a war with a first-class European naval power their ships of war would reach, our Pacific Coost via the Suez Canal and not via Cape Horn. The canal could easily be held by lend forces using dynamite. No foreign vessel with dynamite torpedoes, and it would be very easy to disable a lock or two at either end. Again, whatever damage any foreign power might do to the canal in case of war would be included in the American bill of damages before peace would be concluded. Any foreign power making war on this republic would find itself in the position Carthage did in making war on Rome.

"But this country needs the canal for commercial reasons. It would be off the United States and each year become of more and greater commercial value to us. It will be constructed by er ormous business benefit to the people of the United States and each year become of more and greater commercial value to us. It will be constructed by some power—if not by the United States then by Great Britain or France. Suppose it were built by either of the latter powers, then toll profits would belong to them and they could fix the tolls on our merchant shipping at any rate they pleased and refuse to permit our war vessels to pass and repass in time of peace if they saw fit. In the event of war, with that canal in the possossion of either Great Britain or France, we might be seriously damaged. As a war measure common prudence and self-defense demand that it shall belong to us when the war breaks out; self-interest requires that it, shall be controlled and its tolls fixed by the United States in time of peace. If it is our we do not need to let the ships out; self-interest requires that it, shall be controlled and its toils fixed by the United States in time of peace. If it is our we do not need to let the ships of any power pass through even in time of peace should it be our interest to exclude them. But we would hardly do that, as the more business it transacted the more toils it would yield us. Lastly, we could hold the canal against any power if we tried, and should it be lost in the chances of war it would be recovered before any peace would be made with the belligerent nation. If necessary the United States could profong a war until it could build and launch a fleet that would dominate the seas. The resources and mechanical power of this country in war are wellnigh illimitable.

seas. The resources and mechanical power of this country in war are well-nigh illimitable.

"Senator Davis takes a timid, cringing, pessimistic view of the matter, quite unworthy of an American Senator. Let no cowardly fears deter the great republic from promoting its interests and strengthening its resources by constructing and controlling the Nicaragua Canal. This country does not exist by virtue of any power's indulgence or permission. It is abundantly able to take care of all its interests and to protect all its artificial water. and to protect all its artificial water and to protect all its artificial water-ways against any enemy.

"Let Senator Davis dismiss his unmanly fears. The United States must construct the canal and fix the toils. It must belong to the nation. The Senate bill should be passed promptly and without any showing of the white feather. Both the great parties have approved its construction in their national platforms. The President the other day notified Senator Morgan that he was in favor of the canal; that it ought to be built, and that it would be the crowning glory of the nineteenth century. Why, then, does the Senate delay action?"

Goethe on the Nicaragua Canal.

Goethe on the Nicaragua Canal.

(From Eckermann's Conversations.)

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 21, 1827,—Dined with Goethe. He spoke with admiration of Alexander von Humboldt, whose views as to the project of making a passage through the Isthmus of Panama appeared to have a particular interest for him. "Humboldt," said Goethe, "has, with a great knowledge of his subject, given other points, where, by making use of some streams which flow into the Gulf of Mexico, the end may be perhaps better attained than at Panama. All this is reserved for the future and for enterprising spirit. So much, however, is certain, that if they succeed in cutting such a canal that ships of any burden and size can be navigated through it from the Mexican Gulf to the Pacific Ocean, innumerable benefits would result to the whole human race, civilized and uncivilized. But I should wonder if the United States were to let an opportunity escape of getting such work into their own hands. It may be foreseen that this young State, with its decided predilection to the West, will, in thirty or forty years, have occupied and peopled the large tract of land beyond the Rocky Mountains. It may, furthermore, be foreseen that along the whole coast of the Pacific Ocean, where nature has already formed the most capacious and secure harbors, important commercial towns will gradually arise for the furtherance of a great intercourse between China and the East Indies and the United States. In such a case it would not only be desirable, but almost necessary, that a more rapid communication should be maintained between the eastern and western shores of North America, both by merchant ships and men-of-war, than has hitherto been possible with the tedious, disagreeable and expensive voyage round Cape Horn. I therefore repeat that it is absolutely indispensable for the United States to effect a passage from the Mexican Gulf to the Pacific Ocean, and I am certain that they will 20 it."

Interesting Papers Read Before the Society.

Prof. Cook of Claremont College on "The Pollenization of Fruit Blossoms"-"Flower Culture" by Mrs. Jeanne E. Carr.

The spring meeting of the Pomological Society convened in the vestry of the Universalist Church, at Pasa-dena, yesterday morning, with a good attendance. The room was appropri ately and tastefully decorated roses for the occasion, under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Thompson, and cordial welcome was extended the members.

members.

The meeting opened at 10:30 o'clock, with President N. W. Blanchard of Santa Paula presiding. D. Edson Smith of Santa Ana acted in his official capacity as secretary.

An address of welcome was delivered by Prof. C. E. Tebbetts of Pasadena, to which President Blanchard responded happolic.

After the reading of the minutes of After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, reports of officers and committees were submitted and new business discussed. The most interesting movement was the proposition to make the destruction of horned toads unlawful, as the vast number which are being killed by taxidermists and shipped East is rapidly ridding the country of these useful and interesting animals.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session opened with a paper on "The Pollenization of Fruit Blossoms," by Prof. A. J. Cook of Blossoms," by Prof. A. J. Cook of Claremont. This paper was referred Charemont, This paper by President to, at its conclusion, by President Blanchard as the most able and interesting paper ever presented to the esting paper ever presented to the association, and it was received with keen appreciation. Prof. Cook opened by stating that he had for many years been a member of the Horticultural As-sociation in Michigan, the members of which are highly cuttivated and in-telligent students of the subject of hor-ticulture; that, personally, he had given much time and study to experigiven much time and study to ex-ments in Michigan on the subjet pollenization, and, while but for short time a resident of California, devoted already santon ments in Michigan on the subject of pollenization, and, while but for a short time a resident of California, had devoted already serious study to the subject and felt qualified to speak with some assurance. The subject of pollenization is one of vital interest to all fruit-growers, and Prof. Cook, by the aid of a colored chart, explained the methods and processes of pollenization, cross-pollenization, showing how fruit fructifies, and what important agents bees, insects, favorable winds, etc., are on diffusing pollen. Fruit may develop without pollenization, but seeds never. The secret of heavy bearing Prof. Cook finds in cross-pollenization, and the bees prove the most important factor in diffusing pollen from different varieties and from the same varieties, carrying pollen from pistil to stamen. Pollen from its own variety is often sterile, and cross-pollenization is necessary. Prof. Cook cited examples under his observation, and quoted statistics culled from experiments made in his own State; and under the United States Agricultural Society. Since his residence here, Prof. Cook has only been able to experiment and report on deciduous fruits, but the result is the same as in Michigan. Paper sacks are put over blossoming trees before the blossoms are fully open, and bees introduced to transfer pollen. In all experiments blossoms so covered when bees are introduced, the majority fructified, while the covered, without the bees, were found sterile or only fructified in minority. Apricots proved an exception, however, showing little need of insect agency in transferring pollen. Prof. Cook is not yet ready to report on oranges, but firmly believes this fruit especially dependent upon cross-pollenization. Twenty students are now experimented on in other fruits, twenty-two were found sterile of their investigation will be laid before the next meeting. Out of thirty-six blossoms experimented on in other the next meeting. Out of thirty-six blossoms experimented on in other fruits, twenty-two were found sterile without pollen from other varieties Prof. Cook quoted valuable matter and statistics from without ponen a recent report of the statistics from a recent report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, and introduced so much valuable information that it is impossible able information that it is impossible to cover it in a brief summary. He to cover at in a brief summary. He strongly advocated the introduction of aplaries, believing bees to have special control of cross-pollenization. The corclusions drawn are: First plant mixed orchards for heavy crop; second. where large orchards of same variety fall to bear, it is lack of cross-pollen-ization; third remedy, graft other va-rieties to insure pollen, and introduce bees; shelter trees from adverse winds; avoid spraying, as wet pollen is im-potent.

bees; shelter trees from adverse winds; avoid spraying, as wet pollen is impotent.

This paper aroused a deep interest, and a general discussion followed. While all acknowledged bees an important factor in cross-pollenization, an argument was raised against them, as they are known to be destructive to ripe fruit, notably the pear, apricot and grapes, frequently destroying the crop and being a pest to fruit-driers. The discussions were spirited and full of interest.

Mrs. Jeanne E. Carr of Pasadena followed (after a five-minute recess, when several new members were added to the association,) with a scholarly essay on "Floral Culture." Owning to the immensity of the subject and limited time Mrs. Carr merely endeavored to touch her subject generally and lightly. This she did with sentiment and poetry. She showed how a ten-foot garden space could be beautifully cultivated by a careful selection and intelligent care and referred to her own experience, interests and memories in floraculture in an entertaining manner. Her paper was received with warm enthusiasm.

The next paper was read by G. M.

Her paper was received with warm enthusiasm.

The next paper was read by G. M. Tabor of Pasadena on "Small Fruits."

Mr. Tabor modestly disclaimed any special ability to treat his subject or to make it interesting, but he proved himself able to hold the undivided attention of his listeners and gave many interesting statistics which were valuable. The subject of small fruits is not an unimportant one and appeals directly to the amateur gardener. Mr. Tabor's experiences with strawberry-raising were of special interest and his information in regard to the character and productiveness of certain varieties most instructive. Adaptibility of soil and special location should first be considered in raising small fruits. At the conclusion of this paper an informal discussion was held for an hour to the entertainment and instruction of all present.

EVENING SESSION.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was opened with a paper by L. M. Holt of Los Angeles, "From Desert to Garden." It is but a single step from the arid waste to the most beautiful garden or productive orchard," said Mr. Holt, "and that step is across the irrigation ditch." He then gave a brief survey over the past history of the arid country, where we are now living, showing how, by irrigation, this vast desert is blooming like the rose and how the sheep ranch upon which Pasadena stands wasoned sold at $3 an acre and the eller chuckled over the bargain, and reficed in taking in the Yankee. Twenty pars ago it was thought that all the strams had been utilized in this locality for irrigation purposes, but there are utill undeveloped resources. The Miola Canal will soon irrigate the Moyre Desert, which is adapted to the citivation of alfalfa and deciduous ifrits. This one system will irrigate mre land when completed than was illigated in the whole of Southern Citivation in 1880. With Bear Vally, Hemet and Arrowhead reservoirs ad systems vast acres of arid land will e brought under irrigation and with the Minola Canal more than two hundred and forty thousand acres will become a veritable garden.

He was followed by E. A. Bonine of Lamanda Park, who contributed a well-prepared article on "Grafting and Budding."

This closed the evening session. Friday will be the closing day of the meeting.

DAME FASHION BOWS TO BOWS. (From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.)

Bows are seen everywhere; indeed, what used to be only the elaboration of the gown makes almost its bulk now. Great bows are placed about the skirt, their loops spreading and touching; bows on the shoulder join forces with the encroyable at the throat and practically constitute the visible sort of the bodice; bows on the hips spread loops that meet front and back, and float ends that almost cover the sides of the gown to the knees. All this while the hat is little more than one big bow, and when you con-sider all the beaux the girl herself has, well "ribbon is the only wear" ons is as exacting and as much alive and fashion having been torn to ribbons is as exacting and as much alive as ever.

Both underskirt and draped overskirt of the costume in this illustration are bordered about the bottom with a wide pattern of embroldery. The stuff of the dress is China silk and its plain bodice opens over an embroidered plastron, framed by revers having similar ornamentation. The woman who intends to repeat this model in the stuffs of which it was composed must be prepared to go deeply into her purse, for China silk thus embroidered is not to be had for the asking. The goods which come in dress patterns could be used for th's model and very many of them will make up handsomely.

The newest sleeve, but by no means the popular or accepted one, is perfectly plain over the shoulder, fitting closely and the shoulder seam is very long to give the desired sloping effect. The tightness of the sleeve is maintained to a point about half way to the elbow, and there a small balloon puff is let in from which a deep frill of lace falls over the lower arm. This sudden slipping of the puff down actually conveys the idea that the shoulder itself has slipped out of place, and the effect is not pleasant.

Badges and Jewels Which Designate the Several Orders-Where the Largest Selection Can Be Seen - Some Points for Thinkers.

It has been remarked in these later years how exceedingly numerous have become the various fraternal and benevolent organizations. The largest per cent, of these obtain among the trades and laboring classes. Men have grown to feel how uncertain is the subsistence which society in general offers them, and how precarious is the reliance placed upon their own labor to supply them and their deep incertain is the subsistence which society in general offers them, and how precarious is the reliance placed upon their own labor to supply them and their dependencies at all times, hence the order of this and that steps in and for a slight continuous stipend paid at intervals during health or life maintains them in a measure. It is argued that if man had his free and hautral access to the soil which the single-taxers maintain is his natural-born right, and also his free right to exchange his products wherever he might, which the free-trader says is another natural-born right, it is alleged that if these rights were recognized that production would be so enormous and trade so vast and immediate that society at large would be an ever-ready responding source for any of its members to call upon. Even the poorest laborer, it is said, would then have such means, and there would be such ready demand for his services at high wages, that the spectry and distress which attends it would nonger frighten him into the various organizations which now so nobly stand at his back. We are not attempting to argue the truth of these questions. We are only repeating what is alleged. Sclong as we have benevolent organizations and lodges, we must have jewied pins and badges of their emblems. The most beautiful and appropriate selections of badges and jewels of the various lodges and orders that has been displayed in Los Angeles for a long time is that at M. German's jewelry store, No. 30 South Spring street. These articles are a part of the great stock of jewelry, watches, diamonds and preclous stones which Mr. German has been and is now disposing of at auction. If you want any article of jewelry whatsoever, attend these sales, which take place daily at 2 and 7 p.m.

There will be no war among the re-trigerator car lines after all. Yester-day information was received here that redrigeration charge on fruits and etables and other perishable freight a stations on the Southern California Railway, to the Missouri River and intermediate points of $50, and to Chicago, St. Louis and other points east of the Missouri River $60 per car, will be canceled on May 10, after which the charges on the same commodities from Southern California points, to Chicago, St. Louis and St. Paul, and Minneapolis and intermediate points, will be $75 per car, and east of Chicago and St. Louis $90 per car. These charges apply on carloads of 24,000 pounds, lots in excess of this weight taking a pro-portionate charge per 100 pounds on the excess. The charges include the cost of ice, icing and supervision of the cars in transit, and are in addition to the regular rates for transportation. CALIFORNIA EMIGRANT RATES.

The Southern Pacific is to be forced to take the emigrant business offered it by its Eastern connections whether it wants to or not. The declaration of that road that it would not accept the emigrant business, even if it received its full proportion, $16.10, had no effect on the road east of Ogden. Some people thought the Southern Pacific had effectually blocked the game, but the other roads simply do not issue regular emigrant tickets, but sell in their place the usual form of second-class tickets, and the Southern Pacific conductors have no means of knowing whether the passengers started on their travels from New York or from Germany by way of Ellis Island. As the Southern Pacific road gets its usual proportion on all tickets, while the other roads carry the passengers for nothing, it is not obvious what that company is trying to do by its present attitude. The Union Pacific is holding up its end of the fight by forcing as much travel as possible over the lines which will cost the association most, in addition to giving a long free ride. It is also sending as many as it can over its own lines direct to Portland.

HOFE ON, HOPE EVER.

(Ontario Record:) These are tolerably quiet times for news, and so two very stale tems are having their periodical warming over. The Southern Pacific is to build to San Diego and also to Riverside. The Southern Pacific has been building to Riverside "in season to handle the next orange crop" now for six or eight years, but not a single rail has yet been laid. With about the same unfailing regularity the announcement has been made that a line was to be built to San Diego, immediately if not sooner, a la Carlson. Pomona had its little railroad boom when the Pomona and Elsinore was graded, and Ontario rejoiced in the shibboleth, "Ontario, change cars for Chino, Riverside, Elsinore and San Diego; when the Chino tranch was built; but we see no immediate prosect." egu," when the Chino tranch was built; but we see no immediate pros-pect of realizing our dream. Some day the Southern Pacific whistle will no doubt be heard in the quiet orange groves of Riverside, and on the peace-ful waters of the harbor of the city ful waters of the harbor of the city of bay'nclimate, but it will be after a Republican administration has brough better times. The administration the stuffed prophet is not favorable to railroad building or any other work of development. And we fear these two particular lines have a good deal of hereafterness about them, all con-siderations of politics and hard times

A YOUNG WOMAN'S FOLLY.

Married to a Hard Character After Only a Few Hours' Acquaintance.
Yesterday morning Chief of Police Glass was called upon by Henry A. Ruthard, a resident of West Thirtieth street, who requested that an investigation be made as to the whereabouts of his daughter, a young woman of about 19 years of are, who failed to return home

Wednesday evening. He stated that, as she had been somewhat weak-minded and flighty since an attack of typhoid fever about a year ago, he feared that she might have been induced by some scoundrel, who took advantage of her mental condition, to overstep the limits of prudence.

The matter was placed in the hands of Detectives Benson and Auble, with the result that it was ascertained that the young woman had married a Chicago drummer named, E. Katz, with whom she had only been acquainted for a few hours prior to their marriage, and that her husband had borrowed her diamond ring and pawned it for $14 in order to obtain the necessary funds for the license, the clergyman's fee and the dinner after the ceremony.

sary funds for the license, the clergyman's fee and the dinner after the ceremony.

Katz was requested to accompany the detectives to police headquarters, where he was interviewed by the Chief.
From his own statements and information obtained elsewhere, it appears that he is a worthless fellow, who had been ejected from several 'hotels' for non-payment of his board-bills. Upon being informed of the character of the man she had married, the young woman sought an attorney for whom she had formerly worked as a typewriter, with the view of having the marriage annulled; but, as the ceremony had been formally celebrated by Rev. Will
A. Knighten in regular form, she was informed that her only means of dissolving the tie which bound her to Katz was through the divorce court.
Shortly after being interrogated by the police Katz made arrangements to leave the city, the notoriety attached to his escapade being unwelcome to one of his "retiring" disposition. His intention, however, was not carried into execution, for Joseph F. Prizgint, by whom he had been employed, upon learning of it, swore to a complaint before Justice Seaman, at 6:30 o'clock last evening, charging Katz with having embezzled a drummers' sample outfit, which had been intrusted to him as agent. A warrant was accordingly issued, and upon it Detective Auble subsequently arrested Katz, who was locked up in the City Jall in default of $2000 ball.

A FITTING TRIBUTE.

T. C. Steele to Paint a Picture for the "Book of the Builders.

of the Builders.
(Indianapolis News, April 17:) There is no longer a question of the wonderful success of the "Book of the Builders," the official history of the World's ful success of the "Book of the Builders," the official history of the World's Fair.

The work possesses a peculiar interest for Indianapolis people, as its famous artist, T. C. Steele, has been commissioned to paint an original picture for it, and has already entered upon his work. It is but fitting that his name should be intimately associated with Earle, Gifford, Hassam, Millet, Blashfield, Cox, Curran, De Thulstrup and other eminent artists who have elevated and giorified American art, and whose great pieces will embellish this magnificent publication.

Mr. Steele was found at work in his studio yesterday afternoon, and talked entertainingly and, enthusiastically upon art, the World's Fair and the "Book of the Builders," in all of which he is deeply interested.

"I have been painting," he said, "for twenty-six years, and during this entire time I have never seen such a transcendent, epoch-making event in art, such glorious opportunities for the artist as the Chicago fair. As an educator it was greatest in its architecture, and its influence will multiply and increase as the ravages of time and vandal remove all material traces of the grandest exposition known to history.

When asked for an artist's criticism.

tory.

When asked for an artist's criticism of the "Book of the Builders," he replied that it seemed incredible that at should have progressed to such an extent that colored fac-simile reproductions of oil paintings could be so faithfully and beautifully executed, and spoke in glowing terms of the work contributed by his brother artists to this peeriess publication.

"It certainly is a most stupendous undertaking," he continued, "and never before has there been cuch a concentration of talent, as there will be in this work, or such a combination of distinguished names. Its effect upon American art cannot but be lasting and beneficial, and I am glad to see the high standard of work maintained, as is evidenced by the excellence of the paintings which will appear in the later numbers, some of which I have seen."

Twenty years ago Mr. Steele came to Indianapolis from Owen county, where he was born in 1847, and his career since then has been watched with pride and interest by his friends in this city. With the exception of five years, from 1880 to 1885, this has been his home during the entire time, and, unlike the ancient prophet, he is honored both at home and abroad. For five years he pursued his studies at the Royal Academy in Munich, in the painting school of which institution he received the first-class medal. His later successes are no less a matter of local pride, the landscapes from his brush taking a high rank among those of the leading American artists. He had two pictures in the United States section of the Fine Arts exhibit at Chicago, one of which, out of 700 others, was the only Western picture marked "No. 1" by the national jury of selection. Three of his paintings are now on exhibition in New York, two being at the Academy of Design, while the other, called "The Brook," enjoys the distinction of being "hung upon the line" at the Society of American Artists. Boston, the acknowledged center of American art, has recognized his talents in a most substantial and flattering manner, the Boston Art Clubhavin

THE KATZ AFFAIR.

A Plain Statement from Mr. Schmidt—Gross Misrepresentation.

LOS ANGELES, May 3, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times.) I was surprised at the sensational report in the Evening Express of this date and the malicious manner in which my name was connected with the Ruthard-Katz affair. The matter was involved.

ner in which my name was connected with the Ruthard-Katz affair. The matter was simply as follows:

I am well acquainted with the Ruthard family. When walking along Main street, coming from the telegraph office, I noticed the young lady and three gentlemen alight from a carriage. I stopped the young lady and asked her what was up. She said: "I am going to be married." I told her it was a poor way of getting married; that she had better go home to her folks and get their consent before doing an act of that kind. I simply did this as a friend of the family; nothing more. Everything outside of that and all other statements are maliclous and unscrupulous lies. Respectfully,

THEO. A. SCHMIDT.

MR. RUTHARD'S STATEMENT.

LOS ANGELES, May 3, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times.) In regard to the statements made in the Evening Express of this date, I wish to say that I have never had any reason for ill feeling against Theo A. Schmidt, What he has done in this sad affair, he simply did as a friend of the family, which he has always been regarded by myself and wife. Respectfully, Circular No. 1: Rooms of the Republican County Central Committee.

LOS ANGELES (Cal.,) April 28, 1894.

Dear Sir: We believe it to be the intention of the County Central Committee to see that the coming primary elections are fairly conducted, and that a full and fair expression of the wishes of the members of our party be obtained. It is an indispensable prerequisité to an honest primary that behind the ballot-box there be placed honest men, who have the confidence of the community and whose conduct will be above suspicion. In order to obtain the best results it is also necessary that all Republicans should take part in the primary elections, and that the best men of each locality should be sent as delegates to our conventions. It is our intention to urge upon the committee at its next meeting the adoption of a rule that no proxies be recognized in the organization of the conventions.

Kindly send us the names of at least Circular No. 1: Rooms of the Republi-conventions.

Kindly send us the names of at least six prominent Republicans of your precinct whom you are willing to recommend for primary officers. Also, kindly take such stars. take such steps as may be necessary to awaken interest in party affairs and to induce all the members of our party in your precinct to take an active part in the coming primaries.

If you can, please designate a polling

In the coming primaries.

If you can, please designate a polling place in your precinct.

CHARLES SILENT, Chairman.

A. B. CONRAD, Secretary.

On Wednesday evening last the Executive Committee of the County Central Committee held a meeting for the purpose of informally discussing matters pertaining to party organization for the coming campaign. The chairman was authorized to fill all vacancies in the County Committee. P. M. Green, the banker of Pasadena, was appointed to fill the place vacated by the removal of Leo Longley from South Pasadena.

A discussion with reference to the holding of the primary elections showed that the committee was working-unanimously, and intends to take every step required for the holding of fair primaries. Plenty of notice will be given of the holding of the primaries, the Great Register will be used, good and honest citizens will be selected for primary election officers, and proper and convenient places will be designated for holding the elections. These were some of the suggestions discussed, and the committee seemed to be unanimous upon these subjects.

A resolution was passed authorizing the chairman to apoint a committee the committee seemed to be unanimous upon these subjects.

A resolution was passed authorizing the chairman to apoint a committee of four, with himself as ex-officio member of it, to consider and report upon a mode of holding the coming primary elections. The chairman announced that he would not appoint any one upon that committee who is either a candidate for office or occupying an official position, which met the views of the entire committee, and the following committee was appointed: Chairman, S. M. Haskell of Pomona, with B. W. Lee, A. W. Shanklin and Edward Booth as members.

It is the intention to call together the General County Committee as soon as the action of the State Central Committee, which met yesterday, is made known. There seemed to be some difference of the expression of the opinions of the Executive Committee as to whether it is best to hold precinct primaries in the cities of Pasadena and Los Angeles, or hold primaries by wards. The unanimous expression of the opinion of the Executive Committee upon the subject was that it is anxious to do what the people wish done upon that subject, and expressed a desire to hear from them upon the subject.

MUSICAL MENTION.

An audience composed of the best musicians of the city was present at the Los Angeles Theater last evening the Los Angeles Theater last evening, the occasion being the last plano recital of the season given by Mrs. T. Masac. This lady is a most-finished artist and her playing in public is always a source of pleasure. She was in excellent form last evening and gave the difficult programme in a way which astonished her listeners. Mrs. Masac is a slight woman, but her fingers are of steel and she rendered a series of selections without any evident fatigue which might have tired a planist of double her strength. The first number was Beethoven's 'Sonata Pthetique,' and the final, Kowalski's "March Hongroise," which was given with as much expression and strength as the first selection. The programme included the most difficult works of the great composers and afforded her severe lection. The programme included the most difficult works of the great composers, and afforded her an opportunity of showing her versatility and brilliant technique. The "Spinnerlied" of Wagner-Liszt was extremely well given, as was also "Rhapsodie de Auvergne" (Saint Saens.) The latter abounds in difficult passages, but was played by Mrs. Masac with the ease gained by years of diligent practice and study. She was the recipient of many handsome floral offerings. The rest of the numbers consisted of works of Chopin, Ritter, Schuman, Thalberg and Liszt.

Repudiates the Pinther Dispatch.

Louis Luckel, the attorney, writes Louis Luckel, the attorney, writes The Times, disclaiming all responsibility for the impudent telegram of Theo Pinther to Judge Otis of San Bernardino, which resulted in Pinther's arrest for contempt of court. Row About a Goat. Row About a Goat.

Charles Culp, an expressman, and George E. Winchester, a shoemaker, were arraigned upon the charge of having disturbed the peace of Edward Dorr of No. 903 East Fifth street during an altercation over a goat, and upon entering their respective pleas of not guilty were ordered to reappear for trial on Tuesday next.

THE Florence at San Diego is offering unequalied advantages as a hotel of quiet elegance and superb cuisine. Occupying one whole block, located above sea level, thereby escaping all possible dampness, with east, south and west frontages, all rooms enjoy the full beneat of the sun at some time of the day. Yet it is the coolest and dryest spot in Southern California, and commands a view over the entire city, of ocean, bay and mountains. Electric cars to all parts of the city, depots and ferries. Is acknowledged as the leading tourist resort, with plenty of side trips. Special inducements for May. Harry Watcham, proprietor, formerly of the Brown Palace at Denver.

BUSY SCENES AT CHINO.

Putting in New Machinery at the Great Beetsugar Factory.

A visit to the great beet-sugar factory and refinery at Chino these days is full of interest. There is probably no busier spoto in Southern Caligornia outside of the cities this season than Chino. The best sugar outside of the cities this season than Chino. The beet-sugar company has had over fifty carloads of heavy machinery arrive at the factory in the last few weeks. In one day there was an arrival of twenty-five carloads. There is a large force of men at work putting the machinery in place in the factory and refinery, and the bustle and hurry and din of hammering from dawn until evening make lively scenes. New engines and boilers are being added to the great engine-house outside of the factory, and over $18,000 worth of machinery from Germany and New York goes into the refinery. It is estimated that the additions and improvements to the Chino sugar factory this year will cost fully $47,000 before the sugar-beet season begins.

CORA BELL FELLOWS.

The Cloud That Destroyed the Happiness o The Cloud That Destroyed the Happiness of Her Home.

(Nebraska State Journal:) When Cora Bell Fellows was wedded to Chaska and came with her dusty liege lord to Nebraska the skies seemed bedecked with a constant aurora and the little log hut seemed a palace to Cora. Months passed and a cloud grew upon the horizon in the formfof a squaw, and those women are "pizen." Her eyes were as dark as the dismal hereafter and her hair was as straight as a two-by-six rafter. The stout heart of Chaska succumbed to her graces, for an Indian knows what an elegant face is; and they met when the moon the calm atmosphere mellows, nor cared for the heartache of Cora Bell Fellows. One night when the storm king the coal scuttle looted, this Chaska put on his red blanket and scooted away to the North with this maiden, nor tarried till he and fair Minnekadinetum were married. And this maiden, nor tarried till he and fair Minnekadinetum were married. And Cora, she waited and bore his abusees and hoped he'd return to his wife and pappooses, but weeks rolled by, till the looks of her cupboard reminded here sorely of Old Mother Hubbard. Then Cora, disheartened, disgusted and gaunted; deserted the home that her Chaska once haunted and mingled once more with her friends, broken-hearted, and Cora and Chaska forever are parted.

A moral this tale bears to girls who through folly or strange love of ro-mance, imagine it jolly to cast their sad lot with the sons of the wildwood mance, imagine it jolly to cast their sad lot with the sons of the wildwood and seek a divorce from the friends of their childhood. The romance is snort, as in this case related, for Cora now knows she was sadly mismated and has, with the rest, the unhappy reflection of duty to half-breeds that need her protection. The question of Indian civilization involves not the horrors of mixed procreation. An Indian has to be dead to be decent, which fact has been known a long time—is not recent—and his history shows, from the best observations, that half-breeds are worse than their tribal relations. I weep for poor Cora and both her papposes; I shudder to think what a gosling a goose is; I feel indignation that Chaska should leave her and skip with another and basely deceive her, and think that the law should receive a few patches to shut off these semi-barbarian matches.

"Owed" to Coxey's Army.
You have heard of Dr. Tanner, likewise of Sergt. Bates,
How their reputation traveled through more than forty States;
But for realistic buncombe, and hocus pocus fake,
Coxey's impecunious bummers are "capturing the cake."

Geological explorers, boring holes mother earth, Trace the eras of formation from old terra firma's birth.
From miocene to pliocene, and age of bronze and stone,
And prehistoric relics, too, in every clime and zone. So when in future ages, this ball has larger grown

And some spectacled professor goes "prospecting for bone."
Will this strain of formation—like the writing on the wall Receive interpretation—as the age of cheek and gall? Will wide-mouthed agitators revolutionwill wide-mouthed agitators revolution-ize the laws,

By stealing rides in box cars and manip-ulating jaws?
Will organized effrontery by roving, law-less band,
Get official recognition in a law-abiding land?

Pennyroyal politicians, improvident and "broke," trains—alleviating the "cruel tyrant's yoke."
With their Coxeys and their Kellys, their Jumbos and their Frys, Excavating glant apertures with augers of small size.

Now, when the future "bone-man" goes to digging in the ground,
Will he disinter those auger-holes, smooth, petrified and sound?
When he resurrects the skeletons of Coxey, Frye, et al.,
Will their jaws continue vibrating like pend-lums on the wall?

If unjust legislation has produced these "times of blue,"
There's a medium of redress for each patriot tried and true;
Not by organizing idlers to rove about the land,
But PETITION and the BALLOT, in each honest freeman's hand.

Let the Babies Romp.

Do not discourage the baby from using his muscles because of rumpling his clothes, or even taking the shine his clothes, or even taking the shine off your furniture. His little limbs are worth more to him, and perhaps to you, too, when, mothers, you are old and have to depend on them, than the polished legs of your table. Little girls have to play an important part in their life, especially when they come to work for another baby life. So do let the girls have some muscular development as well as the boys.

Chino Beet-sugar Factory.

Charles K. Hamilton, manager of the Chino beet-sugar factory, died yester-day afternoon at his residence at Chino, under circumstances which are so pecu iar as to completely mystify the physicians who attended him.

On Sunday morning last Hamilton On Sunday morning last Hamilton and a companion drove some twelve miles from home into the country, taking their guns along with them. While the were jogging along the road a large hawk came sailing along towards them, and circled over their heads. Remarking upon the bird's cheek, Hamilton waited until it came within range and fired at it. The crack of the gun startled the horse, causing it to shy, and run away. The wheels of the buggy being cramped, both men were tipped out. Hamilton landing on his feet, with his legs apart. Except for a slight pain in the groin, he felt no ill effects, however, at the time, but on Sunday night this occasioned him so much pain that Dr. Ainsworth was sent for. On Monday that physician made a thorough examination of the patient, but found no fracture, rupture, or even strain, and, after prescribing for him, returned to town on Tuesday, and Wednesday the patient was reported to be apparently much better, but yesterday afternoon a telephone message to the effect that he had died during a fainting spell was received.

Another report was received last and a companion drove some twelve

Another report was received last night to the effect that the cause of death was the rupture of a blood ves-sel in moving the patient.

Arrivals at the County Jail The following petty offenders were received at the County Jail yesterday from outside districts: Douglas Rainey, Redondo, disturbing the peace; ten days. Arthur Livingston, Pasadena, battery; ten days. George Stein and John Diebles, Antelope, petty larceny; committed for trial.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The speculation Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The speculation on the Stock Exchange was quite active, but the prevailing tone was weak and dull, the depression being largely due not to the gold movement, but the difficulties which beset the reorganization committees in the leading railways. St. Paul and sympathetically the grangers were heavy on the large decrease in the earnings of St. Paul. Atchison was especially heavy on the sale of 15,000 shares, said to be for an estate which is being apportioned aimong the heirs. Reading was fagain weak on the threatened foreclosure proceedings. The strength of Sugar was due to the expectations that the Senate Finance Committee would report the starff bill with the sugar amendments. General Electric was sold by Boston in liquidation of a big block of stock held there for some time. London was not in the finarket, but sold lots of St. Paul and Louisville in the early trading, and later bought Reeding and Atchison on the decline.

a pressure of Northern Pacific again broke the market. The bond market was firm in the morrising, but weak in the afternoon.

CHICAGO, May 3.—Wheat ruled firm today on a small business, and closed with an advance of %c. The movement of the stocks is at last apparently coming the way of the bulls. The visible supply gives evidence of a speedy reduction by export; although every foreign market in the world informs the trade of this country that they have already more than enough from other sources, they continue to receive about one-half of all they need from the United States and Canada. These heavy shipments are now being felt in reductions in the stock here, and without an overwhelming visible supply, it was asked: "What will the bears do?"

Corn was firm and gained (c.; May oats were likewise %c. higher. Provisions are slightly lower.

THE NEW CABLE ACROSS THE AT-LANTIC.

The sailing of the Faraday from London with 500 miles of the new ocean cable on board is an important event in the history of international telegraphy. After 100 miles of shore end is laid off the coast of Ireland, the Faraday off the coast of Ireland, the Faraday will cross over to Fox Bay, Canso, Nova Scotia, whence the other 400 miles will be payed out and buoyed. The ship will their return to London for the rest of the line, and by the 1st of July the cable is expected to be available to the public. This is the third cable across the Atlantic owned by the Commercial Cable Company, and it is the largest and strongest caand it is the largest and strongest ca-third cable across the Atlantic owned by the Commercial Cable Company, and it is the largest and strongest cable ever laid between Europe and America. Its special feature is that it gives a speed of fully one-third higher than the present cables. The ordinary speed of transmission of cable messages heretofore has been about eighteen words per minute, but now thirty words a minute will be possible. This increased speed is made possible by increasing the size of the copper conductor, which weighs 500 pounds per mile, as against about three hundred and fifty in the old cables. An interesting fact in connection with this is that most of the copper, which is of the purest and finest quality, is being supplied by an American firm. This is supposed to be the first time that American copper has been shipped to England for telegraphic cables. The total weight of copper in the cable will be 1,100,000 pounds, and 10,000,000 pounds of steel wire will be used in armoring it. One great difficulty in the way of high speed heretofore has been the great impossibility of obtaining material of sufficient low specific inductive capacity. This hindrance has been surmounted by the manufacture of a higher class of insulating covering. The gutta-percha which is used for this purpose has been subjected to a special cleansing process, which eliminates deleterious substance and leaves a comparatively fine and smooth grain of the maximum efficiency as an insulator. Great care has been taken in the testing of ocean cables, as a rupture at any point might entail most disastrous consequences. Although the ordinary working current for the new cable will be fifty volts, every inch of it is subjected to a test of 5000 volts, and parts of it have been tested with 25,000 volts without showing the elightest sign of a break down. The reduction of the ocean cabling tariff to 25 cents per word gave a great impetus to the sending of messages across the Atlantic and the service has been proportionately improved. Only a few years ago it was considered q onntry subject to a prohibitive tarift; in England it goes free. The length of the new cable is about twenty-one hundered miles.

LOCANNOG BODIES IN THE UPPER AIR PASSAGES.

Medical men are frequently called upon to treat cases in which metallic substances have slipped down into and become imbedded in the upper air passages. A case of this sort was recently treated successfully by an electrical device. An intubation tube became lodged below the vocal chords, and its recovery was effected by means of a battery, electric bell, and surgical probe in circuit. Dr. E. N. Heard suggests a simpler plan than this, which can be instantly made available to anyone possessing a felephone. The receiver or ear trumpet should be taken down, together with the attached flexible cord. To one of the free ends of the cord must be asterned be placed in the mouth, care being taken that it makes good contact with the ottached in the mouth, care being taken that it makes good contact with the totached in the mouth, care being taken that it makes good contact with the ottached in the mouth, care being taken that it makes good contact with the tongue. The hypodermic medic can then be introduced into the windpipe, while the telephone receiver is held to the ear. If the foreign body is touched, even in the slightest degree, there will be a scratching sound in the telephone. The working of this device depends upon the well-known fact that two dissimilar metals, when in contact with the dots, which will serve the purpose, of course, must be blunt. Dr. Heard has found a silver dollar, moistened with salt water or very fultue sulphuric addi, to serve well for a terminal in the second cord, for making contact with the skin. He points out that this method has the advantage of needing little time to arrange it, giving a response on the slightest contact, and being perfectly safe.

SCEENCE IN FLUSHING SEWERS.

The flushing of open sewers is not a matter as to whose investigation the majority of scientists would be particularly enthusiastic, but some resident Cornell graduates have taken up the subject so thoroughly that they have developed some most interesting facts which go to show what an efficient and valuable process this branch of a city's health department may be constituted. The object of this inquiry is to determine how far the effects of flushing will be felt in sewers of various sizes, and also at what distances the gates or tanks must be placed to obtain the best results in reference to the quantity of flushing water, the diameter of the sewer and its grade. Preliminary experiments have been conducted on an open channel of considerable length, provided with a gate, and the instant at which the front of the wave reaches various points of the sewer is recorded by electrical devices. Similar means are also provided for indicating the depth of the advancing wave and its velocity at every ten feet of the length of the sewer. In some of the experiments the water is colored, so that it tells its own tale upon a strip of paper as it flows down grade. These practical experiments are being followed up by careful tests in the laboratory. Here the various phenomena of a flow of water through orifices of all kinds, varying in sizes, and under heads up to three hundred feet, are studied and recorded.

One of the latest forms of this wonderful "sound magnifier" has been devised by W. H. Soulby. The special construction of this instrument is of interest only to the expert, but what Mr. Soulby tells of his experiments, while developing his instrument, is entertaining also to that wide class of readers who are concerned in causes less than in effects. The playing of a plano in another part of the house was, when heard in his instrument, a burden to his soul, and the washing of dishes in the kitchen was like the roar of an avalanche. When any one entered the room, walked about, spoke, coughed, touched the table or door handle, the shriek of the receiver was painful to hear, and, even at a distance, its repeated inarticulate cry became almost harassing. Spoken conversation and the ticking of a watch in the next room were easily recognizable, the next room were easily recognizable, the ticking being very distinct, even to the metallic ring of the hair spring, as it colled and uncolled at its work. Another delicate and exhaustive test was with breath sounds. The listener was with breath sounds. The listener was dispatched to a distant room, and, on his return, he said: "The breathing sounds very distinct; what a chest you have, and how wonderfully deep and hollow it sounds. A doctor could test people's lungs without leaving his surgery, by getting his patients to breath near an instrument of the and expert inspiration and expiration was as deep and clear as possible."

Another test was the placing of the hand, or bare forearm, on the sounding box, when the rushing of the rapidly-circulating blood through the veins was distinctly audible. was distinctly audible.

Conference Between Councilmen and Com missioners in Regard to Land.

Commissioners John Cross and H. L. Pinney held a conference with Councilman Munson yesterday morn-ing regarding the condemnation of land for park purposes. The conference was afterward joined by Councilmen Nickdesmer.

Councilman Munson, in defining his position on the subject, said he is in favor of having condemned the land which has been proposed, adjoining Elysian Park, and some of which is mearly surrounded by that park. He is also, he said, in favor of the condemnation of certain land south of Westlake Park.

Commissioners Cross and Pinney ar-

Commissioners Cross and Pinney argued that the question of taking lands at other places should be dropped and only the proposition of taking land about Elysian Park pushed.

Councilman Munson replied to this that he would be entirely willing, to have the Elysian Park proposition come up first, and come up separately. He would support it if brought up in that way. He also, however, wanted to have the land taken south of Westlake Park. He did not want to tie down one proposition with the other, the proposition of taking land ut Elysian Park pushed.

Councilman Munson called attention to the large number of people who visit westlake Park, and said he believed if $100,000 were to be spent on Elysian Park within the next year the visitors there would be few, because of the lack of communication.

Commissioner Pinney said he thought if that value of improvements were to be made on Elysian Park there would very soon be the means of communication.

In reply Mr. Munson pointed out East Side Park as one that had been well improved, that had not yet good means of communication between it and the business part of the city. Councilman Rhodes said he would be in favor of taking the land at Westlake and East Side parks as well as the land at Elysian Park.

The conference was concluded after it had been arranged that the members of the Council and the Park Commission should be invited to a drive next Tuesday afternoon about the city for the purpose of seeing the land which is proposed to be taken at various places.

The Street Superintendent is having a series of tests made of the various flushtanks used for flushing the sewers and expects to report on the matter to the City Council next Monday. water will be discharged into the sewer at once.

The flushtanks hold from three hundred to three hundred and fifty gallons of water each. The Street Superintendent has had a man place a gallon measure where the small stream of water above mentioned would be discharged into it, and observe the length of time it takes to fill the gallon measure. In this manner it can be closely estimated whether the stream in each case is sufficient to flush the sewer as often as it should be flushed. In the test made the stream has sometimes filled the measure in eight minutes and sometimes it has taken fifteen minutes to fill it.

The main difficulty is said to be that the apparatus through which the stream flows is so small that it is very easily blocked by small particles of seddiment.

Theodore Pinther Up for Contempt - Verdict Theodore Pinther Up for Contempt - Verdict in the Millet-Bradbury Case.

accustomed air of bravado and selfconfidence yesterday afternoon, as he was led into Department Four by a deputy sheriff.

Pinther is one of the leading spirits of the small body of "organized" unemployed left in this city, and he got himself into trouble by assuming that the power of his name was great, and that all he had to do to be obeyed was to command. Now he hasn't such a high opinion of his own importance, and undoubtedly will have all the bombast thawed out of him by the time the courts have finished with his case.
Like many other foreigners who come to this country and stir up discord by canting about freedom of speech and Americanism, Pinther came to the end of his rope with a very abrupt turn.

Ever since Vipette and his gang were gathered in by the police out at quiet San Bernardino, their sympathizers have interested themselves in oreating all the discussion they could upon the subject, in the endeavor to excite public feeling in their behalf.
But public feeling didn't excite worth a cent, and, in consequence, a more radical measure was adopted, and by the attempt at such a proceeding the prime mover has been brought within the waiting grasp of the law.

Wednesday morning, when Judge Otis of San Bernardino called up the Vinette case, he found awaiting him a telegram worded as follows:

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 1, 1894.

The telegram was addressed in care of Louis Luckel, one of the attorneys for the defense. Judge Otis was naturally quite angry when he read the dispatch and observed the presumptuous terms in which the message was couched, and he was not at all timid about expressing his views on the matter. Shortly afterward he ordered that a warrant be issued for the arrest of Pinther for contempt of court.

The paper was placed in the hands of Sheriff Booth, who came to this city yesterday to serve the same. Unfortunately the clerk, in making out the warrant, had only directed it to the Sheriff of San Bernardino/county, falling to add the words "or any peace officer within the State," and on this technicality Pinther gained his freedom again after being apprehended.

As soon as the paper in its imperfect form had been served upon him, he set out to find a lawyer, and scon secured Mr. Dunlap, Esq., to represent him Dunlap prepared a petition for a writ of habeas corpus at once, and had the matter heard by Judge Van Dyke.

Dist.-Atty. Dillon and Mr. Harris of San Bernardino appeared in support of the people, and argument was made pro and con.

Pinther sat still, meanwhile, twisting occasionally the ends of his Anarchistlike mustache. He seemed very much relieved when the court ruled that the warrant was defective, and scrambled hastily out of the room to shake hands with a few of his followers who were waiting in the corridors.

It is expected that the warrant will be taken to San Bernardino to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt.

THOSE PETROLEUM FUMES. The Health Officials at Last Make an Investigation.

Health Officer Powers and members of the Board of Health visited the petroleum wells, near what is known as Second-street Park, yesterday morn-ing for the purpose of investigating the complaints made that the wells neighborhood. A meeting of the Board of Health, at which something will probably be done in the matter, will, it is expected, be held in a few days.

It is expected, be held in a few days. There are a dozen or so of the wells in operation. The complaints made regarding them are that the smell, of the smoke from the engines used to operate the pumps is very offensive and that the fumes from the oil are disagreeable and deleterious.

As seen and smelled yesterday afternoon the odor was unpleasant, although not very bad. The smoke proceeding from the principal boiler where petroleum is used as fuel was not thick, and disappeared after floating a short distance from the smoke-stack.

It was stated by one of the citizens in the neighborhood, however, that the smell is much worse in the morning or at about the time when the pumping is started.

or at about the time when the pump-ing is started.

The appearance around the wells, al-though about what might be expected, is anything but attractive. The "sludge," or whatever it may be called, has in a number of places been al-lowed to spread over the ground, which it blackens considerably.

Thursday's edition of the Mt. Lowe Boho says: "Joseph Wallace, the president of the Pasadena Packing Company, accompanied by several of the solid and substantial men of the city, came up to Echo Mountain today for the express purpose of being photographed. It was not a pleasure photograph trip, though, that the gentlemen made. Business was behind it all. Mr. Wallace is just getting out a new label for his packing business, and, instead of putting thereon the representations of fruit used by all packers, he decided to ask Prof. Lowe if a photograph of the great cable incline could not be used as a distinctive feature of the label so that it would at once locate the place from which the fruit was sent out. Of course the arrangements were at once made and the photographs are already taken. Two hundred and fifty thousand of these labels are to be lithographed in colors, and thus another million; at least, of people will gaze upon the picture of the most wonderful refluxy swer constructed, and be attracted to our Southern California land thereby."

Among Thursday's visitors to Echo Mountain were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Muir of the Southern Pacific; and T. E. Gibbons, Esq., the Terminal road's attorney, and wife.

Three of the so-called editors have fied the country. Now another newspaper outfit, consisting of a bushel of old battered body type from cases that have done service in seven States in twenty-five years, and a disjointed Washington hand-press that has been carted about California from country town to country as fast as the man in charge bilked an unsuspecting constituency, has been brought to Pomona of a lumber wagon from Redondo, and we are to have one more "journal of intelligence" in a field that has been crowded with newspapers for several years. The question arises, how long will this thing be borne in patience.

DIVORCE SUIT.

Proceedings for absolute divorce have been begun by Lemuel E. Braly of Chino against his wife, Nellie, who resides with her parents at El Monte. The husband charges his wife with infidelity, and names five dates when she was intimate with one J. M. Filmt, in Pomona. He also charges other infidelities in Los Angeles during the month of last January. The Bralys were married last July in San Francisco and were a conspiculously-happy couple. The husband is Z years of age, and the wife Z! years. She is a very handsome brunette, and took the prise at a beauty show in Oakland in 1832. It is not known whether the wife will fight the proceedings.

The City Council met Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the City Hall.

Ordinances Nos. 117 and 118, in regard to protecting fire, hose and permitting the use of corrugated iron, were put upon their third reading and passed.

The order was given for the closing of certain streets in the Jacoby subdivision as requested by petitioners, and in the case of the west end of Crowe avenue, although reported upon adversely by the Street Committee, was, upon being voted upon by the board, ordered closed.

The case of the city against P. C. Tonner, upon the charge of being drunk, occupied the artention of Recorder Young's court during Wednesday. After exhausting the venire only five jurors had been impanelled, and both sides I agreeing too to trial with this number, they took the box and the case was opened, P. C. Tonner, assisted by Ed Fleming, defending himself, and the City Actorney prosecuting.

Tonner, assisted by Ed Fleming, defending himself, and the City Attorney proseculing.

There were some eight or ten witnesses on both sides, which caused the trial to "draw its weary length along" through many hours.

The line of defense was an attempt to show spite work on the part of the City Marshal, and on that particular occasion being under the influence of a hypodermic injection of morphine administered by a certain portion of Pomona's population, and the courtroom was well filled during the entire course of proceedings.

The jury, after being out for, quite a length of time—two out of the five not being clearly convinced as to their convictions—brought in a verdict of guilty recommending the defendant, P. L. Tonner, to the mercy of the court. After this a motion asking for a new trial and arrest of judgment was filed by the defendant, and the hour of 8:30 o'clock Friday morning wass set by Recorder Youngs to dear the same.

In case a new trial is not granted, it is thought by many that it depends upon the sentence of the court whether or not an appeal—which has been hinted—will be taken by the defending counse.

Anti-screen Saloon Ordinance to Be Repealed.

One of the Supervisors Who Voted for, the Law Has Gone Over to the Other Side-News Notes and SANTA ANA, May 3.—(Special Correspondence.) The Board of Supervisors met this (Thuirsday) morning in special session for the purpose of reconsidering its former action in the matter of passing ordinance No. 29, regulating the customs of the Saloons in the matter of doing away with screens, cardrooms, tables, etc., but as soon as the board was called to order, Supervisor Armor raised an objection to any official action being taken on the ordinance at this meeting for the reason that the call for the meeting was signed by only two members at the time it was made; that the third signature was not secured, and the call returned to the County Clerk until May 1, but three days before the meeting was held, at which it was expected that the board would take official action, and that the law provides that the call should be signed by at least three members of the board, and filed at least five days before said meeting can be legally held.

This point was quite warmly discussed, after which it was sustained, and the board adjourned without transacting any business to meet in regular session Monday, May 7, at which the reconsideration of ordinance No. 29 will come regularly before the board.

It is no longer a secret that the board adjourned without transacting any business to meet in regular session Monday, May 7, at which the reconsideration of ordinance No. 29 will come regularly before the board.

It is no longer a secret that the board proposes to go back on its former action and to allow the saloons to run as they have heretofore, with screens, gaming tables and private boxes and rooms. Messrs. Armor of Orange and Hawkins of Garden Grove are understood to be strongly contending for the ordinance recently passed to go into effect, while Messrs. Yoch, of Santa Ana, Schorn of Anaheim, and Tedford of Newport, are understood to favor doing away with the new ordinance and to allow the saloons to continue as they have in the past. The Orange county Chamber of Commerce met in special session in the office of the secretary Wednesday evening for the purpose of hearing the report of the Manufacturing Committee who have been considering the matter of establishing a cannery. The committee reported that at the present time they did not deem it advisable to try to get a cannery in running order in time to handle the present season's crop, but that by another year they thought there was no doubt but what the cannery would be up and ready for business in time for the earliest of the fruits and vesetables. The committee reported that Los Angeles parties had been interviewed who had agreed to take the entire product of the cannery at market prices.

The question of printing another large dition of the folders recently issued by the Chamber of Commerce filled with valuable matter pertaining to the county was discussed, after which, upon motion, the secretary was instructed to order 30,000 more copies printed by the Orange County Herald.

H. A. Peabody reported that the Santa Fe Rallroad Company had very kindly agreed to distribute 20,000 copies of the folders among their Bastern offices, and to have placed upon the title page of the same, the name of their local agent at each of the stations from which the folders were distributed.

The matter of an official map being furnished by the county was discussed, but no official action upon the same was taken.

An important Railroad Damage Suit on Trial.

RIVERSIDE, May 3.— (Special Correspondence.) The case of Mrs. J. E. Sloan of San Diego against the Southern California, Railroad for Mio,000 damages was begun today in the Superior Court, with J. D. Works and A. H. Goodrich attorneys for the road. No difficulty was experienced in securing a qualified jury, and the trial was begun before noon, but sooth a securing a qualified jury, and the trial was begun before noon, but sooth a snag was struck, turning affairs in an ainexpected direction. In the testimony for the prosecution the deposition of the physician who attended Mrs. Sloan was introduced, and in which occurred certain interrogatories to which the defense objected. Then came an argumenta as to whether this should be admitted as testimony. As there was involved a nice point of law, and one in which there is held important matters in this case, the jury was given a recess until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, and the rest of the day was consumed by the attorneys in their arguments pro and con respecting the admission as testimony of the interrogations objected to.

The cause of this action is substantially as follows: In April of last year Mrs. Sloan got upon the Santa Fe train at North Fomona to go to San Diego, via San Bernardino. The conductor took up the whole of her ticket before she reached San Bernardino, to do that he had paid her fare from San Bernardino south to San Diego, and the conductor told her that Complaints About the Eastern Extension of the Boulevard.

SANTA BARBARA; May 3.44 (Special Correspondence.) There is a good deal of complaint made by citizens regarding the condition of the eastern extension of the boulevard. While it is not entirely impassable, it is so full of ruts and chuck holes that driving over it is far from pleasant. It would seem more like economy, after such an outlay of money as has been expended on the boulevard, to keep it in such a condition as would make it an attraction to pleasure-seakers, rather than to allow it to become a drive to be avoided. The object in the first place was to give the people of this city a desirable and pleasant drive, and, if it is not maintained in proper shape, that object will not be accomplished.

COLTON. COLTON, May 2.—(Special Correspondence.) G. W. French, candidate for City Marshal in the late city election, but defeated by John W. McCaulley, instituted contest proceedings before the City Council to secure the place upon the grounds of fraud in the election. Attorney W. L. Burton appeared for the prosecution and Asst.-Dist.-Atty. L. M. Sprecher was attorney for McCaulley.

Although the City Trustees felt that they should have no jurisdiction in the matter, they had to abide by the code and hear the case. On Menday evening several witnesses were examined, but none of them showed that fraud had been practiced, save that one man seemed to have resided in the State less than a year. When the case came up again last night, French, haying concluded that his chances were very slim, withdrew from the contest, much to the disgust of his attorney, who was expecting to make an elaborate plea in his argument.

MINING CAMP EXPERIENCES.

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson Tells Some Episodes of Her Early Western Life. (New York Sun:) Once, a long time ago, Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson lived out in a Western mining camp. That was be-fore the brilliant English essayist and novillist saw her and fell desperately in novilist saw her and fell desperately in love with her, but even then she must have possessed some attractions for the stronger sex, since she was the recipient from the following incident which Mrs. Stevenson relates with considerable enjoyment.

"I had always been led to believe that the Indians called their wives 'squaws,' that their conversation was principally 'Ugh! Ugh!' and that first, last and all the time they demanded 'firewater.' Instead of this, the unsophisticated savages with whom I came in contact shuddeed at the taste of spirits, had a fair command of English and called their wives mahalas' and themselves hombres. My cousin Ben, a remarkably handsome youth, whose few years came to an untimely end in that forlorn country, was always very good helping me with my household tasks, much to the disgust of Shoshone Jim, an Indian who came often to the cabin. He regarded with extreme disfavor the spectacle of Ben washing dishes.

"Why you wash dish?" he demanded.

"Oh, the mahala makes me,'" was the careless reply.

"You mahala?" inquired Jim.

Whitcomb Riley's Favorite Poem.

He'd nothing but his violin,
I'd nothing but my sons.
But we were wed when skies were blue
And summer days were long;
And when we rested by the hedge,
The robins came and told
How they had dared to woo and win
When early spring was cold.
We sometimes supped on dewberries,
Or slept among the hay,
But oft the farmers' wives at eve
Came out to hear us play
The rare old tunes, the dear old tunes.
We could not starve for long,
While my man had his violin
And I my sweet old song.

And I my sweet old song.

The world has aye gone well with us, old man, since we were one;
Our homeless wandering down the lanes, It long ago was done.
But those who wait for gold or gear, For houses and for kine.
Till youth's sweet spring grows brown and sere,
And love and beauty tine,
Will never know the joy of hearts
That met without a fear.
When you had but your violin,
And I my song, my dear.

(From Our Regular New York Fashlen Correspondent.)

It has been positively said that fur trimming will appear on many of the gowns designed for wear in warm, weather, and the prophesy has proven true to a certain extent, with respect to spring dresses. They are not, how-ever, plentiful enough to assure the continuance of this freakish style into the summer months. At present they are occasionally seen, and now and then a trimming which seems equally ill-timed is found upon a handsome costume. Such a one is pictured here and the fur-like trimming which it displays consist of a curied wool fringe. The gown itself is princess and of a light weight tan broadcloth, the trimming spoken of being in a contrasting shade of brown. The edge of the skirt is seen to be cut in large scallops over an underskirt of black silk. The sleeves, have the large drooping puff which present style demands and a lower portion which is tight from wrist to elbow. The bodice portion fastens on the left shoulder and around and under the arm, beneath the strip of fringe which there appears.

We are surely on our way to the bustle and the bouffant overdress, and every little you yield along the lines that bring these obnoxious effects makes their coming the more certain. Skirts are ceasing to flare evenly all around, and they are sticking out more and more pertly at the back. So far so good! and very pert and pretty they are, but soon we will so appreciate the effect of this flare and perkiness at the back, that we will begin to draw the skirts closer and closer across the effect of this flare and perkiness at the back, that we will begin to draw the skirts closer and closer across the front, then will come the "tie-back." It is already plainly suggested on some skirts. Then we will add bulk at the back and, behold! the overskirt will be draped at the back. Already it is being cut short and spreading behind, then all at once we are in the tolls, we forget what we are after, and resume the hump on our back, from which we escaped so few years ago! The only hope is in the fact that fashlons change so rapidly these days that ions change so rapidly these days that no one style has time to run itself into obnoxious exaggeration.

and at the close of the evidence was ordered held to answer under bonds in the sum of $2000, in default of which he was committed to the County Jail. The specific offense with which Hughes is accused is the forgery of certain contracts for marble monuments, upon which he collected his commission. Representing himself to be a commercial traveler out of employment, he easily prevailed upon G. W. McClure, one of the members of the firm doing business as the Pacific Marble and Granite Company, at No. 931 East First street, to give him a chance to make a few dollars, and started out presumably to drum, up the surrounding country towns. A few days later he returned with several contracts for monuments, upon which he was paid $55 commission. The work was proceeded with, in due course, but, when the monuments were ready for delivery, the parties for whom they were made failed to respond to the notices to that effect, sent out by the firm, and, on investigation, it was learned that they were fictitious persons, who existed only in the imaginative brain of Drummer Hughes.

When McClure and Detective Goodman called upon Hughes in his room, on the day of his arrest, he exclaimed: "My God. McClure, you are on to me, too!" and subsequently, on his way up to the City Jail, he admitted to Detective Goodman that he did it, and that the names were fictitious.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

Large Yields of Fruit Indicated in the Po-moda. Valiey.

Never in the history of Pomona Valley have the peach, trune, apricot and pear-growers ever felt so sanguine of ley have the peach, prune, apricot and pear-growers ever felt so sanguine of a prosperous season as they now do. Without exception they believe that they will have generally large yields of fruit this summer, and will get the best prices for the same since the famous boom year of 1890 for deciduous writs, when Pomona got over $120,000 in one month for her prunes, peaches, apricots and pears. Since that time several hundred acres of these fruits have come into full bearing, and many more acres have been planted, so the gross yield for the year promises to be far beyond anything our orchardists have ever known. Of apricots there will be an enormous crop. The trees are literally filled with green fruit, and prudent horticulturists have begun the work of thinning out the growing crop, for fear of the ruin of their trees by overburdened limbs. Several reliable fruitgrowers say they believe Pomona will produce this season at least 2600 tons of apricots, and others say it will go to nearer 3000 tons. At $20 a ton, which has been the ruling price here for apricots twice in the past eight years, that will bring about $60,000 to Pomona Valley. Prunes promise the best general yield there has been in four years, and more refl wealth is expected from that crop by the Pomona fruit-growers than from any other this summer. So many new orchards have come into full bearing this season for the first time, and there are such large tracts of land now occupied by luxuriant prune orch
